Pennsylvania County Agents Name Officers

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The Pennsylvania Association of County Agricultural Agents announces the election of new officers. Dave Filson was elected president, Phil Durst, president-elect, and Laura Watts, vice president. In addition, Toni Bilik and Carol Schurman were elected secretary and treasurer respectively.

PACAA is an organization of 110 Penn State Cooperative Extension agents from all 67 counties in Pennsylvania. PACAA is affiliated nationally with associations from each of the 50 states. This is the 75th anniversary year of PACAA.

Filson began his Extension career in 1984 and is now the County Extension Director for both Mifflin and Juniata counties. His program area is agriculture with a special interest in agronomy and dairy. He has served PACAA on the Communications and Scholarship committees and was a regional director for the association. He completed terms as vice president

NORTH CORNWALL (Lebanon Co.) — While it is expected that some confusion may linger with the name changes of some of the agencies within the U.S. Department of Agriculture, there should be no confusion among dairy farmers about how to get back the federal milk assessment

The Pennsylvania County Agents Association elected officers for 1995. They are, from left, Carol Schurman, Indiana County; Larry Yager, Adams County; Toni Bilik, Blair County; Phil Durst, Montour County; Laura Watts, Cumberland County; and Dave Filson, Mifflin County.

Vegetable Conference Research Examines Stake System, Transplants, Planters

Stake System Provides Better Tomatoes, Income For Growers

ANDY ANDREWS

Lancaster Farming Staff
HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — Fresh market tomato growers who stake their plants can benefit from larger, firmer, more uniform fruit and obtain a higher percentage of grade 1 tomatoes, according to an expert from North Carolina State University.

Dr. Douglas Sanders, extension specialist with the North Carolina State University at Raleigh, presented information about staked tomato plant research to a roomful of vegetable growers on Tuesday at the 1995 Pennsylvania Vegetable Conference and Trade Show. Studies examined the practice of staked tomatoes used by North Carolina, Florida, and other fresh market tomato farms in the Southeast.

Sanders said there are lot of benefits to having a staked plant, including easier pruning, more fruit, less sunburn, and more uniform plants. Also, by incorporating drip irrigation and plastic mulch, fruit harvest can reach as high as 80 tons per acre, according to a system used in North Carolina.

North Carolina has a similar, but earlier, growing season compared to Pennsylvania.

The staked tomato systems use a form of trellising, much like grape growers. Stakes made up of Honduran pine, measuring about 3/4 inch to 1 inch wide and about four feet tall, are driven into the ground about 8-12 inches deep. A system used by Florida growers uses a pneumatic hammer to drive stakes between every tomato plant. Spacing is every 24 inches.

A North Carolina system uses stakes every two plants, with a spacing of 18-20 inches between. The system uses a regular sledgehammer because the pneumatic hammer often breaks the stakes.

(When storing the stakes, which can last from 3-5 years, it is important to clean and stack them and treat them with antifungal and antibacterial agents to control disease.)

Every 100 feet, a double stake is inserted at each end to support the trellising method. About 3 to 5 rows of string is used, either vinyl or plastic twine (binder twine is not used because it stretches too much when wet). About 40 plants are accommodated with the trellising method every 100 feet.

In the Florida system, the twine is moved through the stakes, wrapped around, and tied. Workers who tie the trellises are trained to tie the tomatoes at normal walking speed.

The North Carolina and Florida systems prune once, taking off suckers measuring no more than 4 inches long, before the plant reaches 12 inches high (pruning later than that has little effect on tomato yield). "It's critical to prune early," said Sanders.

When the plant is completely trellised, before tomato harvest, the canopy should fill so when you

Fruit Grower, Ag Lender Honored In York County

JOYCE BUPP

York Co. Correspondent
YORK (York Co.) — Hard work, meditation and a goal to fight for sums up the philosophy that made long-time York County fruit producer P. Joseph Raab a success.

Raab and his family were honored with the farm family award presented annually at the York County Agriculture Recognition banquet. The eighth annual dinner event was held January 26 at the Wischaven Social Hall, jointly sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service, York County Farmers' Association, and York County Chamber of Commerce.

At age 14, Raab went to work at the Yoe Orchard Company. He later furthered his education with studies at Thompson Business School in York. In 1935, he purchased the family fruit and farming operation from his parents, becoming the fifth generation on the original 40 acres acquired in the 1700s by Peter Joseph Raab.

Maryland Holstein Assn. Sets Annual Meeting

WESTMINSTER, Md. — The Maryland Holstein Association has announced details for its 1995 convention, to be held March 3-4, at the Comfort Inn, in Westminster, Md.

The deadline to order tickets is Feb. 10, and tickets are required for three meals: the business luncheon, the ladies luncheon, and the convention banquet.

The hotel reservations had a special rate set for the convention, however that ended yesterday. However, rooms may still be available, call (410) 857-1900 or (410) 876-0010, for more information.

large sizes in the Northeast, and were generally unchanged elsewhere. The market tone was barely steady to weak for the large sizes, and generally steady for mediums. Demand was seasonally slow to instances moderate. Supplies were adequate to ample for the large sizes, and mediums were usually adequate. Breaking stock supplies were adequate to fully adequate for the regularly committed needs, and plants ran full schedules. Light type hens were at least adequate for the light demand, and the market tone remained steady.

Broiler

EDISON, NJ

FEBRUARY 01, 1995

DELMARVA BROILER/FRYER MARKET. FEDERAL-STATE. Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was light to fair and generally below expectations.

Offerings varied from fully adequate to ample. Live supplies were moderate; weights were in a full range of light to heavy. Slaughter schedules were very heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 47 to 58 and sellers often removed premiums to stimulate movement. Trade sentiment was barely steady. In the parts complex, bone-in breasts were adequate to short. Boneless skinless breast were fully adequate at most plants. Leg quarters were in good overall balance. Legs and drums were fully adequate. Wings were ample.

DAILY NATIONAL GRAIN SUMMARY

PROFIT TAKING ON THE BOARD PUSHED EXPORT SUPPORT OUT THE WINDOW AND WHEAT PRICES DECLINED.

IMPROVED EXPORT INTEREST FIRMED CORN PRICES. SOYBEAN PRICES WEAKENED DUE TO CONTINUED SOUTH AMERICAN CROP PRESSURE AND LACK OF NEW FOREIGN DEMAND WHEAT 1 TO 5 CENTS LOWER CORN 1 TO 7 CENTS HIGHER. SORGHUM 1 TO 7 CENTS HIGHER. SOYBEANS 1 TO 6 CENTS LOWER. GOOD EXPORT DEMAND HAS BEEN THE MAJOR SUPPORT PROVIDER FOR WHEAT PRICES OVER THE PAST FEW WEEKS AND OVERNIGHT SALES TO THE PHILIPPINES OFFERED SOME EARLY STRENGTH HOWEVER, GAINS WERE INTERRUPTED BY ACTIVE PROFIT TAKING, AND WHEAT PRICES WERE UNDERMINED CORRECTIONS WERE MADE IN CORN PITS AS RECENT DECLINES WERE SEEN AS OVERDONE. EXPORT DEMAND PICKED UP SLIGHTLY OVERNIGHT, ADDING LIGHT SUPPORT TO CORN PRICES. EXPECTATIONS FOR A LARGE SOUTH AMERICAN SOYBEAN CROP CONTINUED TO DEPRESS U.S. BEAN PRICES. SOY-OIL DEMAND LOOKS BAD AND MEAL PRICES HAVE BEEN STRUGGLING BUT PRICES SLIPPED LOWER. EXPORT BEAN SALES ARE SUBSTANTIALLY LOW COMPARED TO LAST YEAR.

MIDWINTER DAY, FEBRUARY 6.

ONE GOOD TURN

The story of Scouting in America actually starts in England in 1909. William D. Boyce was lost in a dense London fog when a boy offered assistance. He guided Mr. Boyce to his destination and refused a tip for his efforts, explaining that he was a Scout. On finishing his errand, Boyce asked the boy to take him to the British Scouting office, where he met Lord Robert Baden-Powell, the founder of Scouting. Boyce was impressed by what he learned in England and resolved to bring Scouting home to America. On February 8, 1910, Boyce and three other men founded the Boy Scouts of America, but it really all started with one boy doing a good turn.

— the Boy Scout motto

TIP OF THE WEEK

Out of baking chocolate? Substitute 3 tablespoons unsweetened cocoa and 1 tablespoon shortening for each 1-ounce square of baking chocolate.

SOUR CREAM FUDGE

2 squares baking chocolate
2/3 cup sour cream
2 cups sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
salt

In heavy saucepan, melt chocolate over very low heat. Add sour cream and sugar and cook to soft-ball stage (230° F). Remove from heat, add vanilla, and cool. Pour onto platter. Sprinkle with a little salt and work with a spatula back and forth until fudge forms a ball. Roll out to 1/2-inch thickness on a buttered cookie sheet. Let stand until hardened then cut into squares.

Makes 1/4 pound.

THE OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

When the cat in February lies in the sun, she will creep behind the stove in March.

If the sun smile on St. Eulalie's Day, It is good for apples and cider, they say.

Fogs in February mean frosts in May.

Special Offer: Handy chart full of interesting weather proverbs. Send $3 to Weather Chart, Dept. UF, The Old Farmer's Almanac, Box 520, Dublin, NH 03444.

OPINION

Save Wildlife By Increasing Farm Production

Agriculture has been trying to talk to city people by telling them what we want them to hear. Perhaps we should start figuring out what they want to know about agriculture and then give them some good answers that help bridge the misinformation gap.

In the November 7 issue of Time, Dennis Avery from Hudson Institute's Center for Global Food Issues is quoted with a message every farmer would want the urbanites to hear.

"The real question for today is whether American agriculture can fulfill its potential as one of America's premier growth industries in a world about to triple its demands on farming resources. Few farmers have yet looked at the opportunity. They are still fixated on saving their crumbling subsidies in Washington."

Avery's answer is to eliminate price supports and trade barriers, and above all, increase the U.S. farm yield even further. American's grain is what can feed the livestock of prospering nations as they move to improve their diets.

"The market for American farming has been and will be meat, milk and eggs, and the feeds with which to produce them. If American agriculture fails to seize this opportunity, says Avery, then in 50 years, 40 million sq. mi. of the globe's remaining wildlife may be plowed up in a desperate race against hunger."

The article makes two points:

- High farm yields saves wildlife because it reduces the number of acres that are needed for food production, and
- Farmers can earn more by exporting, while doing global good.

Editor:

At a time when the general economy in the United States is allegedly improving and at a time when a trade agreement like NAFTA has been implemented (which supposedly was geared to help agriculture), then why did agriculture prices plummet to a disastrous level during 1994?

Something is wrong when cull dairy cows can bring only between 25¢ and 30¢ a pound, or when a top steer brings only 35¢ a pound, or when a top hog of 225 pounds brings 25¢ a pound.

Something is wrong when a dairy farmer in Bradford County receives a total check of $13.45 for 210 lbs. of holstein calves, or when a farmer receives $5.45 for a calf, and something is certainly wrong when a farmer receives a bill from a sales barn stating the farmer owes $1.45 to the sales barn because his calf did not cover the cost of running her through the sale.

To Apply For Dairy Refund

This week, many dairy farmers received from their milk marketer the amount of milk they shipped each month for the years 1993 and 1994. If you shipped less milk in 1994 than 1993, you are eligible for a refund.

This refund is based on a deduction taken from your milk check. The estimated refund will average 16.5 cents per hundred weight. Your refund is based on how much milk you produced each month and the monthly deduction. To sign up for the refund you must visit your local Farm Service Agency (former ASCS) office before March 15. You must take with you monthly record of your milk production for 1993 and 1994.

If you shipped less milk in 1994 compared to 1993, sign up now and do not wait for March 15. Bad weather could cause you to miss the registration deadline. Crop insurance or conservation plan are not necessary to receive payments, just a reduction in milk shipped. If you have any questions, contact your local Farm Service Agency.

To Look At Protective Equipment Options

Two new fact sheets from Penn State explain the personal protective equipment (PPE) farmers need for protection from pesticide exposure, respiratory hazards and other farming risks.

The fact sheets are part of a series on PPE. Personal Protection from Pesticides, fact sheet Safety-35, describes how to choose the appropriate equipment for jobs involving pesticides. Items covered include types of gloves, respirators, chemical protective clothing, eye protection and boots available. It also covers PPE maintenance and what to do in the event of an accident.

Farm Respiratory Protection, fact sheet Safety-36, discusses respiratory hazards commonly found on farms and types of respirators that are appropriate. It also covers respirator maintenance and testing. According to one survey, only 44 percent of farmers always wear gloves when working with pesticides, 22 percent always wear eye protection, 8 percent always wear respiratory protection and 4 percent always wear coveralls.

Now is the time to increase these percentages to 100 percent.

To Care For Horses

Just because it is winter, it is easy to confuse over kindness with necessity. Horses do not have to be kept in their stalls and buried under layers of blankets and hoods to be happy, according to Chester Hughes, extension livestock agent.

In fact, they are much happier and healthier outside. Nature provides horses with a winter coat designed to keep them warm. A horse's winter coat traps body heat between the hair fibers. Placing a blanket on a horse at home with a winter coat actually compresses the insulating hair fibers, eliminating the air layer and reducing the horse's natural protection against the cold.

Horses start to grow their winter coats when the days begin to shorten. It is the shorter length of day light, not temperature, that stimulates hair growth. Very cold temperatures will not affect healthy horses, but cold, soaking rains or drafts can make them sick. As a conscientious owner, all you really have to do is provide horses with a place to get away from the wind, rain and snow.

Horses who live outdoors most of the time need a three sided shelter. Build the shelter tightly and position the opening away from the prevailing winds. Also, take advantage of natural windbreaks by locating the shed on the leeward side of small hills or groups of trees. Be sure the site and shelter floor are well drained to prevent muddiness.

Matthew 26:17-35

Devotional Reading:

John 6:30-40

Recently someone published a biography of Benedict Arnold, remembered as the man who betrayed his country to the British during the American Revolution. Reading a review of it, I remembered that the tragedy of Benedict Arnold was not that he was an evil man who turned traitor, but that he was one of the Revolution's best generals who, disappointed by rebel politics, sold out not only his countrymen but himself. This is the story of a good man who went wrong.

Much the same can be said of Judas. He was a man trusted to manage the finances of Jesus' band of disciples, a task for which he was obviously suited. Although today we see him as an evil man—the way he has been traditionally portrayed—apparently his fellow disciples did not regard him thus. When Jesus announced that one of them would betray him, instead of pointing the finger at Judas, they each asked "Is it I, Lord?" (Matt. 26:22). If Judas had been so obviously untrustworthy, they would have turned first to him. Perhaps he too is a good man who went bad.

FRIEND, WHY ARE YOU HERE?

Why did Judas betray Jesus? We will never really know, although many have suggested plausible reasons. The most obvious is that he wanted the 30 pieces of silver reward. Others have suggested that he was disappointed in Jesus because he had expected him to be a conquering Messiah, rather than a spiritual one. Still others wonder if perhaps he was impatient waiting for Jesus to bring in the kingdom of heaven and intended to force Jesus to start his reign. This view is somewhat reinforced by Matthew's statement that "When Judas...saw that he (Jesus) was condemned, he repented and brought back the thirty pieces of silver to the chief priests and elders, saying, 'I have sinned in betraying innocent blood.'" (27:3,4) Jesus even greets his betrayer in the garden with these words: "Friend, why are you here?" (26:50). That is a question that remains forever unanswered.

If you read carefully the story of Jesus' last night with his disciples, you find that it is not a story about betrayal by just one of his disciples, but all of them. Judas, of course, is only the most obvious. But we sometimes forget that Jesus said, "You will all fall away because of me this night" (26:30). Doesn't Jesus say that to us too? On some particular day or night we also will "fall away" because of him.

NOT I, LORD

Most of us, like Peter, want to protest, "though they all fall away because of you, I will never fall away" (26:3). Even the suggestion that we might betray our Lord seems an impossibility. But, although Peter was undoubtedly sincere — aren't we all! — "Even if I must die with you, I will not deny you"—he denied him three times that very night.

"And so said all the disciples," just as you and I would be likely to protest our loyalty to Christ. But they failed him as we fail him. One way or another we "fall away" or deny him.

Yet their denial of Jesus was not the end of the story. "But after I am raised up, I will go before you to Galilee" (26:32). One serves as a disciple of Jesus Christ not because we never fail him but because he is able to both forgive us and use us in his ongoing ministry. Only Judas was lost, not because Jesus would not have forgiven him but because he couldn't forgive himself. When we turn to ourselves for forgiveness instead of God, we are already lost.

BECAUSE EVERY ACRE COUNTS.

You know every acre is important. And to make the most of every acre, plant Pioneer® brand seed corn. So see your Pioneer sales representative today. And make every acre count

3525 106 CRM

The performance leader in this maturity. 3525 is a widely adapted, stable, high-yielding hybrid. Tall plant type, excellent for grain and silage. Late flowering will limit northward movement. Outstanding ear flex and good ear attachment. Strong performer under stress.

3394 110 CRM

Record setting yields. This exciting hybrid provides impressive early growth, strong stalks and roots, exceptional stress tolerance, outstanding drydown and lengthy staygreen. Widely adapted to varying soil types, tillage methods and populations. Well-suited for corn silage. Avoid conditions where gray leaf spot is a higher risk.

NEW 3346 113 CRM

Drought tolerant yield leader. Outstanding yield potential and excellent agronomics. Exceptional stalk strength and staygreen. Early growth is slower than average. Expect some early growth "purpling" but excellent stand establishment. Strong silage potential.

3293 114 CRM

Top-end yields. Exceptional early growth. This hybrid features outstanding stalks, lengthy staygreen and very good drought tolerance. Above average grain appearance, test weight and grain protein content. A good dual-purpose hybrid for grain or silage.

IMPORTANT: Each hybrid has unique strengths and considerations. Contact your Pioneer sales representative for more complete information on these and other Pioneer hybrids.

WEDNESDAY FEBRUARY 1, 1995
OKLAHOMA NATIONAL
STOCKYARDS WEEKLY CATTLE
SUMMARY

Compared to last week: Feeder steers over 800 lbs $1.00-$2.00 lower, 700-800 lbs steady. Stocker steers and steer calves $1.00-$2.00 higher. Feeder heifers and heifer calves steady to $1.00 lower. Demand good for feeder cattle, very good for stockers and steer calves, rather light for heifer calves. Price spread between heavy feeders and light feeders is beginning to open up to a more normal price differential. This due to the inability to turn the larger feeders as fast before May. The month of May is pegged to the June CME slaughter cattle contract. Quality of supply average to attractive. Weigh-ups average

Flesh condition of feeders off wheat medium to slightly fleshy. Several stockers in thin flesh. Slaughter cows steady to $1.00 higher. Slaughter bulls steady. Demand good from packers and replacement buyers. 305 cows and bulls sold with 55 percent to packers. Receipts this week 6,950; last week 4,534; last year 4,783. Supply consisted of 81 percent yearlings over 600 lbs.; 15 percent calves under 600 lbs.; 4 percent cows and bulls. Prices follow with weighted average weight and price in parenthesis.

Feeder Steers: Medium and Large 1: 400-450 lbs. (423 lbs.) $94.50-$98.75 ($97.72); 450-500 lbs. (477 lbs.) $87.75-$94.75 ($92.25); 500-550 lbs. ($18 lbs.) $84.50-$91.75 ($88.74); 550-600 lbs. (580 lbs.) $81.00-$86.75 ($83.27); 600-650 lbs. (619 lbs.) $78.00-$83.00 ($80.32); 650-700 lbs. (681 lbs.) $76.75-$79.25 ($77.97); 700-800 lbs. (750 lbs.) $74.00-$78.00, few thin stockers to

With the high cost of today's pesticides, can you afford sloppy application?

Willmar Air Ride™ lets you apply 1/2 ounce per acre at 12 mph.

Today's post-emerge herbicides and insecticides are so powerful they're applied at almost unbelievably low rates. Like 1/2 ounce per acre in solution. That means you need an applicator as precise as the chemistry. And, because timing with these new products is so critical, you need a self-propelled applicator nimble enough to get into fields even in the mud.

For dependable application of today's sophisticated pre-emerge and post-emerge chemicals, more custom applicators and large farmers rely on Willmar Air Ride. Here are just some of the reasons:

- Unequaled visibility, driver comfort and convenience.
- Patented Air Bag Suspension adjusts on-the-go.
- 60 ft. boom, 600 gal. tank for more acres per day.
- Articulated steering minimizes crop damage.
- Wheel tracks adjust from the cab to fit row widths.
- Low-compaction tires grip soft ground, yet won't crush crops.
- Adjustable boom fits various crop heights.
- Reliable John Deere engine, long-term dependability.

With 50 years experience making top-of-the-line ag spreaders, we know quality when we see it. Whether we make it ourselves, or represent it for others: When you get it from Stoltzfus, it's the best you can buy.

If you believe that quality always pays, call us whenever you need fertilizer equipment and accessories. We'll show you many ways quality will pay you back.

No-Till Performance

Won't harm earthworms that aid in residue management and no-till programs. Fits reduced tillage insect spectrum.

Environmental Impact

Safe to birds and beneficial earthworms. The new pyrethroid formulation means 1/10 active ingredient will provide superior performance.

Herbicide Compatibility

Keeps rescue herbicide options open because it won't interact with Accent or Beacon.

Choosing The Best Insecticide May Require You To Go Full Circle.

Rootworm and Cutworm Control

Consistently rated superior to Counter and Lorsban. Also controls wireworms and white grubs.

Look at your options from every angle. And you'll quickly see what makes FORCE insecticide the all-round choice for insect control. Compared to Counter and Lorsban, the unique pyrethroid chemistry of FORCE fits the way you farm in the 90s. To get all the facts about FORCE E, including the new chv formulation and easy-to-handle plastic bag, call us today. Once you explore all your options, you'll come right around to FORCE.

Summary of 1994 Pa. Graded Feeder Cattle Sales

Report Supplied
By PDA

There were eight special state graded Feeder Cattle sales held in Pennsylvania this year. There was a total of 3,182 head graded this year.

Cattle were graded for frame size and muscle thickness using USDA feeder cattle grading standards. Graded cattle were grouped into uniform lots as to grade, breed, weight and sex. Personnel from the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, Livestock Division, graded the cattle.

The special sales were sponsored either by the livestock market or the local Cattlemen's Association.

Below are the results of the individuals sales — all sales per hundredweight:

Lancaster Crops Day Set

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.)
— The 34th Annual Lancaster County Crops and Soils Day will be held on Tuesday, February, 7, at the Lancaster County Farm and Home Center.

All interested persons are invited to attend.

The program will open at 8:30 a.m. with time for coffee and donuts and visiting the numerous exhibitors. This year's program will deal with topics associated with forage crop production, including Selection of Small Grain
Varieties and Small Grain Crop
Management by Dr. Elwood Hatley, Penn State Agronomy Department; Intensive Management of Pastures by Dr. Steve Ford, Penn
State Agricultural Economics
Department; Alternative Field Crops for Pennsylvania and Buying vs. Renting Land by Dr.
Jayson Harper, Penn State Agricultural Economics Department; and Controlling Weeds in Forage and Grain Crops a video by Dr.

William Curran, Penn State
Agronomy Department.

At noon a reduced-price lunch will be available followed by time to visit with Agribusiness representatives. After lunch, Kathy Baxter, director, Lancaster County
FSA Office, will discuss the New Federal Crop Insurance program.
Soybean Silage and Small Grain
Silage will be discussed by Dr.
Elwood Hatley. Dr. Steve Ford will expand his morning discussion on intensive management of pastures. The program will conclude with a discussion of the Worker Protection Standard Requirements for Pesticide Users by Bob Anderson, extension agent. Portions of the program will qualify for pesticide credit update training.

Winter Conference Set

LEWISBURY (Northumberland Co.) — The Northumberland County Conservation District announces the annual winter agricultural conference for 1995 is set for Monday, Feb. 13.

The conference, cosponsored by the Northumberland County Conservation District and Penn State Cooperative Extension Service, will be held at the Otterbein
United Methodist Church hall in Sunbury.

Topics planned to be discussed during the conference are manure application systems, weed control in field crops, Farm Bill updates, narrow row corn spacing to improve yields, an update on the Chesapeake Bay program in Northumberland County, and integrated weed management.

Agricultural suppliers will be present and have displays around the room.

The conference is expected to run from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and will include a baked ham dinner. Ticket prices are $5.50 which includes dinner, plus coffee, and donuts in the morning.

For more information or to make a reservation, call the conservation district office at (717) 988-4224.

AMERICA'S ALFALFA MAKE A STAND...

...with the introduction of NEW +Z alfalfa varieties.

New +Z varieties with high levels of seedling resistance produce powerful results for alfalfa growers including: thick and healthy stands, better winterhardiness, longer stand life, and higher yield potential.

Total +Z The Persistent Multileaf

This top-performing variety features very dark green color and high multileaf quality. It has scored in the top 10 in university yield trials. This variety features high resistance to all 5 major alfalfa diseases, +Z seedling resistance to Phytophthora and Aphanomyces, and better winterhardiness than other multileaf varieties. Fall dormancy rating: 3.4

Supply Very Limited. Sow 20 Lbs. per acre.

Innovator +Z High stem protein, high digestibility

This high-quality variety was NIRS selected for high stem protein and total protein. It outyielded 80 other Alfalfa varieties in university yield trials, and offers high digestibility to produce more milk and meat per day. It features high resistance to 4 major alfalfa diseases, +Z seedling resistance to Phytophthora and Aphanomyces, and excellent winter survival. Fall dormancy rating: 3.0

Agronomy Guide Available

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — The 1994-1995 Penn State Agronomy Guide is available and has new information on weed management and control, as well as keys for identifying common grassy and broadleaved weed seedlings in Pennsylvania.

The 214-page publication contains detailed information on corn, grain sorghum, soybeans for grain, small grains and forage crops. Included are sections on pest management, soil fertility management, crop storage and erosion control.

Contributors to the guide include faculty and extension staff in Penn State's departments of agronomy, entomology, plant pathology and agricultural economics and rural sociology. Government agencies and businesses also contributed information.

The guide is available for $7 from the Penn State Cooperative Extension office in your county or from the Publication Distribution Center, 112 Agricultural Administration Building, University Park, PA 16802, (814) 865-6713.

Fruit Grower, Ag Lender Honored In York County

A retail market, wholesaling and pick-your-own are all offered today at the Raab Fruit Farm near Dallastown, encompassing a full array of produce from early season strawberries to late fall pumpkins and apples. Conservation practices have long been commonplace on the Raab land, where strip cropping was implemented years before it became a readily-accepted means of stewardship and saving soils.

In addition being a forward-looking agriculturist, Joe Raab held numerous leadership positions within the local community and political arena. He served nine years as a supervisor in York Township, and in 1968, was elected a York County commissioner. During his tenure as head of the county board of commissioners, both the 911-emergency system and the county's extensive park system were initiated. In fact, Raab is often affectionately called the "grandfather" of the York County Park System and the county's newest park addition has been named in his honor.

Now retired from his beloved fruit farming business, Raab has passed the reins down to his children. Daughter Jane Lehman and son Joseph B. Raab lease the Raab Fruit Farm in partnership, with 114 acres owned and an adjoining 50 acres of leased land. Jane's husband, Gary, and Joe's wife, Candy, help with the farm when not at their full-time jobs. Also lending hands as needed are the seventh generation, Joe and Candy's children, Joanna, Chris, Lisa and John, the eldest, at present a full-time farm employee.

York Farm Credit was named the 1995 Ag-Industry Award winner, for its long-time service to the region's farmers and support of the agri-business community. With corporate headquarters in York and branch offices in surrounding counties, York Farm Credit serves farm and rural home lending needs in Adams, Franklin, Fulton, Cumberland, Perry and York counties. Membership includes more than 2,300 farmers across that area, governed by a board of directors elected by the membership.

Under the management of president Jay Rush, York Farm Credit also helps provide leadership and support for adult and youth cooperative education efforts, commodity and agriculture management training for farmers, vo-ag and 4-H programs, scholarships for ag students and ag-education aimed at the consuming public. One of York Farm Credit's most recent outreach efforts has been in helping support the Ag In The Classroom program, which educates teachers about modern agriculture.

Recognition was also extended during the program to key participants in several York County farm-city events held through the past year. Farm Visitation day host was Bailey Farms, Spring Grove R2, which toured several hundred visitors in November through its large egg production facility.

Farm-City Tour hosts recognized were Wayne and Barbara Mummert, East Berlin R1, Codorus Fertilizer Service, owned by George Williams, Codorus, Gerald and Norma Jean Stermer, East Berlin R2, and Round Hill Foods, Inc., New Oxford.

Four "teams," each consisting of one farmer and one non-farmer, took part in the Ag Day Exchange, in which the two participants of each match-up take turns visiting at each other's place of business. Exchangees were: Mark Ottemil-

Myers Named York Beef Club Citation Winner

York Co. Correspondent
SEVEN VALLEYS (York Co.)

— "A rescuer of county agents in distress" was one of the more lighthearted reasons cited in a presentation to the newest York County 4-H Beef Club's Citation Award winner.

That was just one of the descriptions made of Dale E. Myers Sr., Wellsville, recipient of the club's annual salute to an adult or leader who has given of themselves to benefit the youth livestock program. The honor was bestowed as a highlight of the club's annual award dinner, held January 28 at the Seven Valleys Fire Hall.

In making the presentation, extension livestock agent Tim Beck further noted that Myers is always there to support and help make a success of the activities undertaken by the beef club, doing whatever job needs done and usually staying quietly in the background in the process.

A salute to Myers in the club's awards program states: "For the past 15 years, Dale has been a hard-working behind-the-scenes leader in the Livestock Clubs. Even after his children have graduated from the 4-H program, we can count on him to bring his muscle to help weigh in and nose print at the Preview Show. When we went to the Junior Sale at the York Fair, Dale was there to help out wherever he was needed. Most notably, he is responsible for getting base bids on some of the livestock and it doesn't stop there. When the sales are over, Dale becomes the 'cowpoke' leading out those animals that definitely have an agenda that is contrary to the one Dale has in mind. And it is on his trailer that many of those animals ride to the packing plant."

While Myers declined to learn to fit and clip the animals shown by their children during their 4-H years, believing they needed to do that themselves, he was "always there to help us in any way," according to daughter Julie.

Myers and his wife, Jean, have three children, Dale, Jr., Julie and Dave, and six grandchildren. A dock worker and driver for Preston Trucking, he also farms field crops, and with son Dave, raises cattle, sheep and hogs. The Myers' farm at Wellsville often hosts livestock judging practice and competitive activities. Along with his 4-H leadership, Myers is active with the Wellsville Fire Company and enjoys hunting.

A second plaque went to Myers as the club honored "benchmark" years of service by leaders. Gordon Shive, Seven Valleys, is a 30-year beef club leader, and Myers has 15 years of leadership.

Five beef club members were honored with the Roll Call awards. For Roll Club competition, members are graded by leaders on their project update presentations given at each meeting, as well as on management skills. Winners were Jason Baer, first, Suzanne Bishard, second, and Jodi Dutrey, third. Rookie, or first-year, member awards were earned by Amy Sweitzer, first, and George Dutrey, second.

Entertainment for the ag recognition banquet was the living history impersonator, James Getty, who performs as President Abraham Lincoln. Getty reviewed the important agricultural achievements of the Lincoln-era, including implementation of the Land Grant College structure, the Homesteading Act, and Lincoln's friendship with the early visionary of the Grange.

Getty recounted how Lincoln knew many of the early farm equipment inventors, including John Deere. He further noted that lawyer Abraham Lincoln was one of six Illinois attorneys called in on a case which involved Cyrus McCormick, the inventor of the reaper, forerunner of today's modern grain harvesting combines.

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.)

— For food connoisseurs, the Farm and Home Center was the place to be on Thursday night. Tables laden with food from county producers and served by commodity representatives marked Lancaster Cooperative Extension's synopsis of the year's accomplishments.

After a social hour where several hundred guests indulged in tastes of lamb stew, cheese bread, pork sandwiches, baked potatoes, apple snitz, omelets, honey and crackers, ice cream, fresh vegetables, and more food from local producers, a business meeting focused on extension's accomplishments.

Dr. John Schwartz, extension director, reported that 4,546 meetings were held for 73,437 people in attendance throughout the past year. About 720 volunteers assisted the staff in helping 3,295 4-H members complete 4,382 projects and offer 29,247 people individual help. Newsletters and publications distributed numbered 200,704. Five extension agents write newspaper columns and produce three radio programs.

Schwartz reviewed the comprehensive programs offered to assist farmers, gardeners, families, 4-H'ers, and individuals in attaining a better quality of life.

Donald Herr, president of the Extension Association, recognized retiring directors Joyce Graybill, Dorothy Charles, and Eleanor Rhul for their many years of service to the association.

Maryland Holstein Convention In Carroll County

The Comfort Inn is located at the intersection of routes 31 and 140, on the west side of Westminster.

Registration begins 9 a.m. March 3 at the Inn, with a dairy bar and exhibits opening at the same time.

The annual business meeting starts promptly at 10 a.m., and includes the presentation of breed improvement awards and progressive breeder awards.

Following lunch at 12:30 p.m., the guest speaker is to be Richard "Dick" Chichester, who was the recipient of the Dairy Shrine's most coveted "guest of honor" award. He received the award Oct. 5, 1994 during the Dairy Shrine annual meeting and banquet at Madison, Wis.

His comments are to reflect the convention theme, "Forged by our history, united in our future."

The banquet is to be held at Wilhelm's Ltd. Caterers, located along Rt. 104, across from the Maryland State Police barracks.

The social hour starts at 6 p.m., the buffet dinner at 7 p.m., with fried chicken, shrimp, and roast beef.

At 8:30 p.m. is to be the presentation of junior awards, the introduction of the judging teams, and a small fun auction.

From 9:30 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. is to be entertainment.

There are also to be a ladies' program and a youth program with the convention.

The ladies' program includes a luncheon and tour of Antrim 1844, although tour participants need to arrange their own transportation. The Antrim 1844 is a fully restored country inn, located in Taneytown and hors d'oeuvres are to be served on the first floor of the mansion, while vintage clothing and special heirlooms from Carroll County families are to be displayed.

A gourmet lunch is to follow, along with a tour of the mansion and grounds. The Antrim 1844 tour and luncheon has been scheduled to occur from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

A shopping trip to various shops in nearby Littlestown, Pennsylvania, from 2 p.m. on follows.

For the youth, their program is to be held in the agriculture center in Westminster, and is to run from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. ending with dairy bowl competitions to select a team to represent the state at the national Holstein convention, set to be held in Pittsburgh June 25-28.

At 10 a.m., the Maryland Junior Holstein Club is to hold its annual business meeting and elect officers. Following a pizza lunch, members are to travel to Piney Run Park for indoor and outdoor activities, including a scavenger hunt.

At 2:30 p.m., the members return to the ag center for the dairy bowl competitions.

The convention sale is a big event, also to be held at the agriculture center in Westminster, starting 11 a.m., March 4.

For those wishing to visit Carroll County Holstein farms during their visit to the convention, there are state maps available that provide directions to breeders' operations.

February Milk $14.41

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — Middle Atlantic Order Market Administrator Rex F. Lothrop has announced a Class I milk price of $14.41 per hundredweight for February 1995.

This price is down 48 cents from January and is $1.13 below last February's Class I price.

Mr. Lothrop announced a Class III milk price of $11.46 per hundredweight for December 1994 and a Class III-A price of $10.25 per hundredweight for the month. The Class III price was down 48 cents from the previous month, while the Class III-A price decreased 23 cents.

The February 1995 Class I price and the December 1994 Class III price are based on the December 1994 Minnesota-Wisconsin manufacturing milk price of $11.38 per hundredweight at a 3.5 percent butterfat content.

The December 1994 butterfat price was 67.43 cents per pound, down 6.27 cents from November. The December skim milk price per hundredweight was $9.43.

The USDA reported that the wholesale price of Grade A butter at Chicago for December was 65.52 cents per pound on the mercantile exchange and the Central States nonfat dry milk price was $1.0686 per pound.

What Do 1,200 Pennsylvanians Think About Local Produce?

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff
HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — According to a recent survey, the facts are clear: many people know about the importance of buying fresh-grown, local fruits and vegetables to sustaining Pennsylvania's agricultural economy.

But while many agreed that a system should be put in place to ensure the availability of locally grown produce, less than a third recognized the "Pennsylvania Proven Produce" logo and only about a quarter of those interviewed even recognized the logo published by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

That's the message taken home by more than 35 who signed up for the special marketing short course at the 1995 Pennsylvania Vegetable Conference on Thursday at the Hershey Lodge and Convention Center.

Dr. Joan Thomson, associate professor in Penn State's Department of Ag and Extension Education, provided the results of a survey which recently interviewed 1,200 Pennsylvanians at 23 supermarkets and farmers' markets in the southeastern Pennsylvania region. Counties under the survey included Lancaster, Dauphin, Chester, Lebanon, Lehigh, Bucks, Delaware, Montgomery, and Northampton.

Surveys were conducted at different hours, including day and night. The survey was conducted with the help of Penn State and Rodale Institute.

Not surprisingly, the survey mirrored typical findings, according to Thomson: the "average" buyer is a female (70 percent of those interviewed), white, about 25-40 years of age, with some college education.

Many of the respondents were "willing to give you the information if you wanted to find out something," said Thomson.

According to the researcher, what was evident was the consistency of the response: most considered product freshness, appearance, price, quality, flavor, ripeness, and other factors very important.

Sixty percent of those responding prefer to shop at supermarkets because of time and convenience of location. Although more men shopped at the roadside or farmers' markets than supermarkets (40 percent were male at the farmers' markets), shoppers preferred the farmers' markets because they believed there was more personal attention and believed they were eating a fresher product.

Other questions were asked of the respondents. One "significant" response, according to Thomson: people enjoyed living next to farms and "don't want any more development."

"They believe that 'I have my plot, I don't want anybody to come out to surround me,'" she said.

Many respondents didn't realize that about 92 percent of the fresh fruits and vegetables sold on grocery shelves in Pennsylvania comes from out of state.

Out of 1,214 respondents, about 10 percent of those responding felt a "strong" opinion that they prefer locally grown produce. About 25 percent felt a "moderate" preference for locally grown produce.

More than half, 51.8 percent, believed that it didn't matter how the produce was grown. That included whether pesticides were used or not.

One of the most disturbing findings was that less than three out of 10 of the respondents recognized the "Pennsylvania Proven Produce" logo that is available to growers. And only about a quarter of those responding recognized the state department of agriculture logo, "Pennsylvania Pride."

What this points to is the importance of growers working together to promote products, according to Thomson. "You need to be part of a collective," she said.

For more information about the survey, contact Thomson at Penn State, Department of Ag and Extension Education, 323 Ag Administration Building, University Park, PA 16802-2601, (814) 863-3824.

Vegetable Conference Research Examines Stake System, Transplants, Planters

look down from above it you see no plastic, according to Sanders.

The North Carolina system harvests three times in the season. Also, growers are careful to inspect for wind or storm damage and to ensure the trellises remain upright.

While many growers rely on the staked, trellis system for better yields, bigger fruit and more uniform growth, research is under way at North Carolina to provide a "self-pruning, self-supporting upright" tomato system. So far, results from studies have been encouraging.

Cost before harvest for such a system is about $3,500 an acre, for net returns per acre of $7,500, because of the higher volume of fruit over conventional systems. Other research has examined the dramatic effects of foliar boron applications on potassium uptake and keeping nutrient, mostly potassium, levels up in the plant to ensure a more marketable fruit.

Stake-Grown Tomato Cost Study

Dr. Robin Brumfield, Rutgers University farm management specialist, provided results on a cost analysis study involving stake-grown tomatoes in New Jersey.

Fresh market tomato sales for New Jersey reached $20 million in 1992, according to Brumfield, and while acreage has been falling, production has been increased because of the stake-grown method.

But growers who use the system must keep in mind the costs of materials for the system and the labor costs that go into a stake-trellis system of production.

Field studies were undertaken at the Rutgers University Snyder Farm from 1991-1993. Six commercial growers were also involved in the study, including three large growers (more than 15 acres). The Rutgers University farm served as the "model" farm for the study, using a combination of drip irrigation and black plastic mulch.

The study incorporated information on the market price per box of fresh tomatoes, state labor costs, and examined all the materials, time, and labor used to provide a fresh-market, stake-grown product.

The conclusion of the study showed that while the cost per box of tomatoes was considerably higher than the conventional, bare-ground method of growing fruit, because of the substantially increased yields, cost per box dropped and net returns increased significantly.

Forty percent of cost per box was tied up in labor. Total costs per acre were $11,415 with the staked system, compared to $4,788 with the conventional method. But in the end, profits with the stake system were higher. Net profit was $5,400 per acre with the staked system versus $1,698 per acre with the conventional, bare-ground system.

Brumfield said growers obtain higher yield and better fruit with the staked system and a good net return on investment. But growers have to get the yields up (using irrigation) because a lot of money is invested in the stake system.

Comparing Transplants

Overall, growers can benefit in a bigger, more robust plant and perhaps better yields when using a Pennsylvania-grown tomato transplant, according to Joseph Ciardi, Penn State University graduate student.

Ciardi presented the results of a tomato transplant study comparing Florida-grown and Pennsylvania-grown transplants during a two-year period.

Penn State evaluated eight different tomato transplant production methods in the study during the 1993-1994 growing seasons. Researchers used the same variety, Hypeel 696 from Peto, a processing tomato. The transplants used a non-fortified plug mix with an ebb and flow watering system in tables, in Todd planter flats from Speedling, using 392-cell trays.

The transplants, when planted to fields, were all seven weeks old.

Several transplant methods were utilized. One used Hydretain, a water uptake material, drenched in the roots. Another used a nutrient conditioner in solution, soaking roots for three days. One set of transplants were chilled at 55 degrees, once for three days (in 1993) and for seven days (in 1994). Some were hardened for a week in cold frames. Transplants went in fields by hand the third week of May in 1993 and 1994.

What they found was that the water uptake material increased plant growth, making the plants taller and more spindly at transplanting. The nutrient bath provided a more vigorous transplant, but the roots intertwined in the trays. The chilled plants provided a higher growth rate and helped the transplants adapt more readily to cold soils in the spring.

What the researchers found was that, in both 1993 and 1994, despite different growing type years, the locally grown transplants grow much larger than the Florida counterparts, according to Ciardi.

According to Ciardi, Pennsylvania-grown transplants had a higher growth rate and a

LIVESTOCK MARKET OUTLOOK

Penn State Agricultural Economist Lou Moore did not fit the livestock industry into the "good news" category in 1994, and appreciable improvement may not be realized in 1995.

Hog prices fell through the floor in September and have been at the lowest levels in 20 years. It usually takes three to four months for lower prices at the farm to be reflected at the supermarket. This time, however, very little of the drop has shown up at the retail level.

The chain has become so complex from producer to retail store that retailers seem to have little knowledge of events which shape the world outside the store. There have been a few specials to move more pork, but prices are stuck at unrealistically high levels. Packers and retailers currently are profiting from a record hog supply and the lowest hog prices in two decades.

And the end doesn't seem to be in sight. Pork supplies increased about 3.5 percent in 1994 and may increase to 4 to 5 percent in 1995. Hog prices are not likely to move higher than the mid-$30s through spring. Beef supplies will probably be up 1 percent in the first half of 1995, but lower-priced feeders, fewer placements, and lower-cost feed will bring some cattle finishing operations back to profitable levels in early 1995 after nearly 18 months of straight losses. Also, poultry supplies will be up 5 percent in 1995 and turkey supplies about 2 percent.

Professor Lou Moore will present his 1995 Market Outlook at both the Lancaster Cattle Feeders Day in January and the Keystone Pork Congress in February.

Purebred Beef Breeders Forum

The first Northeastern Purebred Beef Cattle Breeders Forum will be held on Feb. 18 at the Toftrees Resort Hotel in State College. The meeting will provide an important coming together for a number of leaders in the generation, publication, and use of expected progeny differences (EPDs) in beef cattle.

The lineup of notable speakers for the forum includes Larry Benyshek, Georgia; John Hough, American Polled Hereford Association; Kent Anderson, North American Limousin Foundation; Bob Schalles, American Simmental Association; and John Crouch, American Angus Association.

Topics will include the basics of how an EPD is calculated, importance of data submission from breeders, why EPDs change, how to use EPDs to merchandise cattle.

EPDs have become one of the most important tools for genetic improvement in beef cattle. These numbers represent the relative genetic value of any individual animal within a breed for a given trait, compared to all other animals in that breed.

Selected traits might include birth weight, weaning weight, yearling weight, scrotal size, or milk production in female offspring, among others. Recently, the generation of EPDs for carcass traits such as marbling and fat thickness has allowed breeders to select for traits that appeal to both producers and consumers.

The Northeastern Purebred Beef Cattle Breeders Forum will begin at 9 a.m. and conclude about 4 p.m. The cost of the program is $45 per person, including lunch.

For more information, contact John Comerford, The Pennsylvania State University, 324 Henning Building, University Park, PA 16802.

Pork Expo Moves To Lebanon

The seventeenth annual Keystone Pork Expo will be held Feb. 15 at the Lebanon Valley Expo Center at the Lebanon County Fairgrounds on Cornwall and Rocherty Roads.

This year's meeting will feature a trade show with 48 exhibits and educational seminars for producers. The Expo will once again sponsor a Pork Bowl contest and public speaking competition for FFA and 4-H members.

Kirk Clark, nationally recognized for his work with medicated early wean programs at Purdue University, will speak on the benefits of multiple site production. Gary Maas, president of Agri Careers in Massena, Iowa, will provide tips on keeping top notch employees. Tom Congelton, marketing manager for the Central Kentucky Hog Marketing Association in Springfield, Ky., will provide his perspective on establishing a marketing network.

Lou Moore, Penn State professor of agricultural economics and a favorite speaker over the years at the Pork Expo, will be on hand to deliver his hog market outlook.

Dennis Zimmerman, a producer and member of the Nutrient Management Advisory Board, will discuss the Nutrient Management Law and how it will affect individual operations.

Following the educational seminars, the fourth annual Legislative Activity Fund Auction will be held. There will be no banquet this year following the Expo, but one is tentatively planned for later this year.

Contact your county extension office for a copy of the Pork Expo program.

Improving Swine Profitability

Beyond hog prices, the production related items with the greatest influence on profit in the swine industry typically include feed costs, maintaining facilities at capacity, and sow productivity. The price of feed is difficult to control. Decreasing building capacity will generally reduce profits per pig. However, increasing sow productivity can add dollars to your bottom-line.

Most sows will wean at least eight pigs/litter. Getting that average up to 8.5 or 9 takes more time - so make sure things go well at farrowing, check sow comfort and temperatures, and watch pigs throughout lactation and transfer as needed.

But of all the things that producers do, according to Dr. Ken Kephart, Penn State extension swine specialist, it's farrowing management that pays major dividends. The extra pigs will basically go to market for the cost of feed, since the overhead costs are covered by the pigs already in the barn. So the profit on these extra pigs, even with today's depressed market, is at least $25 per head.

Sheep Shearing School

While sheep producers are most concerned with lambing at this time of year, it won't be long until the flock will need shorn—again! The demand for sheep shearers remains constant, with many small flock owners lacking the necessary skills or equipment to tackle the job.

As they have for the past 8 years, the Lancaster County Sheep and Wool Growers Association will sponsor a sheep shearing school to train beginners or shepherds with limited experience.

The school is scheduled for April 7 and 8 and will be hosted by Rod Nissley at the site of his flock located in Campbelltown, near Hershey. The two-day school will be instructed by Mike Fournier and Chet Hughes, Penn State extension livestock agents. Equipment will be provided by Penn State University.

To receive more details, fees, and registration information, contact Penn State Cooperative Extension in Lancaster County at (717) 394-6851.

Winter Care Of Horses

Just because winter is here, it's easy to confuse overkindness with necessity. Horses do not have to be kept in their stalls and buried under layers of blankets and hoods to be happy. In fact, they're much happier and healthier outside.

Nature provides horses with a winter coat designed to keep them warm without a lot of human assistance. A horse's winter coat traps body heat between the hair fibers. Placing a blanket on a horse with a winter coat actually compresses the insulating hair fibers, eliminating the air layer and reducing the horse's natural protection against the cold.

Horses start to grow their winter coats when the days begin to shorten. The shorter length of day-light, not temperature, stimulates hair growth. Very cold temperatures will not affect healthy horses, but cold, soaking rains or drafts can make them sick. As a conscientious owner, all you really have to do is provide horses with a place to get away from the wind, rain, and snow.

Horses who live outdoors most of the time need a three-sided shelter. Build the shelter tightly and position the opening facing away from the prevailing winds. Consider seasonal wind directions and take advantage of natural wind-breaks by locating the shed on the leeward side of small hills or groups of trees. Be sure the site and the shelter floor are well drained to prevent muddiness. Natural wind-breaks of trees or brush also offer barriers to prevailing winds and will help protect the pastured horse.

Provide draft-free stabling if horses are kept inside. However, horses shouldn't be cooped up in an airtight overheated barn. If satisfactory ventilation cannot be provided by opening the doors and windows to allow for a draft-free air exchange, then mechanical means, such as ventilating or exhaust fans, would be considered a necessity.

Ventilation removes moisture that accumulates quickly in a tightly closed barn. This moisture can predispose the horse to pneumonia and related illnesses; therefore, it should be eliminated.

Ample straw, sawdust, or shavings provide warm bedding for cold nights. An important thing to remember is to keep our horse off of the cold ground.

Outreach Luncheon Set

600 Attend Binkley & Hurst Bros. Appreciation Day, Open House

LITITZ (Lancaster Co.) — About 600 people attended the annual Binkley & Hurst Bros. Inc. Customer Appreciation Day & Open House Tuesday at the company's Lititz dealership location.

On display were a variety of farming implements and equipment, such as manure spreaders, discs, rakes, etc., as well as other exhibits.

In addition, four speakers provided seminars during the event. Don Robinson, administrator with the Lancaster Conservation District, talked about what farmers can do to keep the public calm and understanding about farming practices, and what they can do to prevent governmental intrusions on the farm.

Carl Just, plant manager of the Myerstown plant of Gehl Co., gave a seminar on innovations in the handling of hay, forage and materials handling, while Dennis Hahn, a product specialist with Case IH, discussed what are considered "products of excellence."

Also giving a seminar was Pennsylvania State Police Cpl. Ralph E. Striebig who discussed various aspects of the law, concerning legal weights, farm truck licensing, underage drivers, equipment transportation widths, special hauling permits, and other farming travel considerations that carry legal restrictions.

Those who were unable to attend the seminars and open house can still benefit from the presentations, as they were videotaped.

Two tapes were required to tape the morning session and the afternoon session. The morning session tapes includes presentations by Robinson and Just.

Copies of the tapes are available at Binkley & Hurst for a nominal fee just to cover the cost of copying and the tape.

To get copies, stop at the company's dealership location, at 133 Rothsville Station Road, in Lititz, and ask about the tapes at the parts department.

For more information, call (717) 626-4705.

About 600 people attend the Binkley & Hurst Bros. Inc. annual customer appreciation day and open house, to look over new equipment and attend seminars on topics ranging from the state law concerning farming transportation to ways to what farmers can do to help create a better working relationship with neighbors and government.

Granulated Starter Fertilizer

"THERE'S MORE TO IT THAN JUST NPK"

For over 47 years, farmers throughout the Mid-Atlantic Area from New York to Virginia have produced millions of dollars of crops using Lebanon Extra fertilizer.

Lebanon Extra is an ammoniated, homogenous, granular NPK fertilizer. With the increased emphasis on using less and precise applications of plant food, Lebanon Extra provides the nutrient sources that you can depend on, and not just NPK but also secondary and six micro-nutrients. The nutrient integrity of Lebanon Extra is superior to bulk blend fertilizer products. When using row applications or banding accurate amounts of plant food it can be important to use a safe, quality, uniform grade product. If you are using a blend with MAP compare the value of Lebanon Extra.

and president-elect prior to election as president.

Filson's leadership abilities have been recognized by the College administration as he has been called on many times to be involved in policy-making groups. His experience was broadened in 1990 by a two-week project in Guatemala. For his efforts to assist area dairy farmers during the drought of 1991, he was recognized by the county Farmer's Association as spokesman for agriculture.

Durst is an Extension agent specializing in dairy and manure management. His program area covers Montour, Columbia, Northumberland, Snyder and Union counties. He is also the County Extension Director for Montour County.

Durst served PACAA as its vice president in 1994. He received recognition recently for educational work in the area of nutrient management by his peers at the national association meeting in Casper, Wyoming as a national finalist in the Crop Production awards program and also from the farmers with whom he works at the Northumberland County Farm Bureau annual dinner.

Watts' Extension career began in 1980 in Cumberland County. From 1984 to 1987, she served as a computer specialist in Extension at Penn State University during which time all Extension offices were equipped with computers and linked to the University through the PEN system.

Watts returned to Cumberland County in 1987 where she is responsible for education in the areas of livestock, farm management, farm safety and recycling. She has served the PACAA as the membership secretary from 1987 to 1991, treasurer in 1991, 1992 and 1994.

Bilik is an Extension agent specializing in consumer and commercial horticulture, as well as working with the 4-H horse programs. She began her career in Blair County in 1980 and expanded her area in 1992 to include Huntingdon County.

Most recently, Bilik chaired the PACAA Communication Committee which handled an awards program recognizing excellence by agents in various communication methods.

Bilik's horticultural program includes the recent development of a handicap garden. Her leadership brought together many different individuals and businesses to support this project.

Schurman, who serves as the 4-H coordinator in Indiana County, began her Extension career in 1977. During that time, county 4-H enrollment has nearly tripled. She has been innovative in delivering 4-H programs to an increasing audience. At the national association meeting held in Casper, Wyoming, Carol received the Search for Excellence award for her environmental day camp program.

Schurman has also been active in the state association of 4-H agents, having served that organization as vice president, president-elect and president. In 1986, Schurman was awarded the PACAA Achievement Award given to a top Extension Agent with less than 10 years on the job.

Larry Yager of Adams County will continue on the PACAA Board as past president. Having served the association as vice president, president-elect and president, the past three years, Yager's experience on the PACAA board will be an asset as he continues on the board for another year. At the annual meeting, Yager also received recognition for 30 years of membership.

Larry Yager has been recognized for his marketing expertise and has been a national officer of the National Farmers Direct Marketing Association and the Pennsylvania Milk Juggers Association. Yager's experience includes terms of service in Swaziland, South Africa and Poland to teach marketing.

These Extension agents were inducted into office at the PACAA annual banquet on November 15 in State College.

The purposes of PACAA include providing an opportunity for professional development, maintaining a standard of excellence, recognizing distinguished service and the development of effective relationships among members and leaders of Extension clientele.

Through involvement in the state and national association, local Extension agents learn from their peers and bring ideas home to implement in their own counties to meet the needs of local citizens. This gives counties the benefit of the best educational program ideas in the nation.

PACAA's active members are involved in Extension education programs as diverse as forestry management, community economic development, urban horticulture and the economics of emu production. Honorary members include current and past state legislators, university presidents and media leaders.

Pennsylvania's association has been a national leader having provided more national officers than all but one other state. As recently as 1993, PACAA member, William Kelly of Westmoreland County, served as president of the national association. PACAA has a long and proud heritage of serving Pennsylvania.

The fault for these prices cannot and should not be placed on the sales barns, because these outlets are vital to our agriculture producers.

In our opinion the fault lies in a marketing system that encourages low prices to agriculture producers, while at the same time socking the consumers on the other end.

Ask some cash farmers in Bradford County how things are in that business. Top quality hay is in short supply, but adequate prices can not be paid for the hay, because of the short fall in cash flow being experienced by most animal growers.

Because of an over abundance of production by farmers who grow corn to sell onto the open market, they are experiencing a difficult time to obtain a price that covers their cost of production.

Then, there are the prices that are being received by the dairy farmers. December's blend price in 1994 of $12.83 cwt. was 61¢ lower than 1980's $13.44.

Most of the above agriculture products are being produced and sold at a price substantially below the average cost of production. Producers are being urged to produce more products at a time when the same producers are being told their prices are low because of over production.

The time has come when all farmers must sift through the above double talk. The time has come for farmers to realize there are ample prices available in the market place to cover the farmers cost of production, plus a reasonable return on the farmers investment.

The people who preach the physiology that farmers must accept current prices are not the ones receiving the ridiculous farm prices.

Many farmers feel the present marketing system is so embedded against the farmer and so controlled by the money people, consequently they feel that there is no chance of making any changes. Changes will be hard to come by; if changes were simple then they would have been made years ago.

In the early 1980's the money people made a decision that the way to increase the consumer purchasing power (many times for unneeded items) was to deplete agriculture prices at the farm level.

Consequently, a box of corn flakes contains only 12¢ worth of grain, a loaf of bread selling for $1.50 may have 7¢ of grain and many dairy products being sold at high prices the return to the dairy farmer is only one third of the selling price.

The Madison Avenue firms are reaping a substantial amount of moneys from agriculture products as a merchandise and promote one product against another with no consideration for the agriculture producers.

1995 Farm Bill

Regardless of how anyone feels, there will be a 1995 Farm Bill developed this year. Already hearings are being held and input gathered for the bill. However, the majority of input does not reflect prices paid to farmers.

It now is time for farmers to stand up and demand a fair share of the funds available in the market place. It's time for farmers to stand up and say it's time for a farm bill to be a Farm Bill. It's time for the farm bill to have pricing formulas for farmers that reflect the cost of production.

Many national organizations are working on a dairy bill for 1995 that would price milk on the cost of production, plus allow producers to produce for the real market, plus allow producers to produce for the export market, plus the bill would cover the needs of the special nutritional programs, plus the bill allows for a formula to cover conservation and environmental programs. All this can be obtained and cost the USDA far less money than existing programs and give the dairy farmers a fair price.

Pro Ag is working with the National Family Farm Coalition on this bill. Other farmers will be working through organizations like NFU, NFO, the WIFE Organization, some State Granges and others for the same purpose. Farmers need to support the efforts of these organizations in order to have a realistic 1995 Farm Bill.

A continuation of where we are today is only a suicidal path for the majority of farmers.

I would like to take this opportunity to write about the E.P.A. (Environmental Protection Agency) review of the Triazine herbicides. (Bladex, Princep, and Atrazine)

Most of the corn growers in our area as well as across the country use some form of Triazine herbicide in their weed control program. We use it because it is fairly inexpensive, it works well in all types of tillage practices, it tank mixes well with a number of other herbicides, and it is relatively safe to handle.

Should the E.P.A. ban Triazines we would also lose more than twenty pre-tank mixes such as Bicep and Laddok.

If you are concerned about an E.P.A. ban on the Triazines please write to the E.P.A. and let them know why it would be a hardship to you in your farming operation. The address to write to is:

Public Response and Program Resources Branch
(OPP-30000-60)

Field Operations Division
(7506C)

Office of Pesticide Programs
Environmental Protection Agency,
401 M St. SW
Washington, D.C. 20406

Remember, if you don't write and these products are banned, you have nothing to complain about.

One other thing I would like to mention is the 1994 record corn crop. According to the latest U.S.D.A. crop report the American corn growers produced a 10.1 billion bushel corn crop with an average yield of 138 bushel per acre. This is a remarkable feat when you consider that it has only been 40 odd yrs. since the national average yield was only 38 bushels per acre.

Unfortunately, record crops come with lower prices. That's the bad news. However, there is some good news in the U.S.D.A. report. This is the corn usage figures.

Exports are projected to be 1.95 billion bushels, feed use is projected at 5.65 billion, and crush at 1.7 billion for a total of 9.3 billion bushels. This equals the size of the second largest crop in U.S. history. With a 7.5 percent set aside in 1995 we will need to produce another 138 bushel per acre crop just to meet demand.

When you look at these figures it is hard not to be a little optimistic. Let's hope 1995 is one of those rare yrs. which bring both good yields and good prices.

World Dairy Expo Seeks Award Nominees

MADISON, Wis. — Outstanding dairy leaders from both domestic and international arenas are being sought for World Dairy Expo's annual recognition awards.

"We're encouraging people to nominate someone who has demonstrated exceptional leadership in the dairy world," said Tom McKittrick, World Expo general manager.

"Recognizing these individuals during World Dairy Expo certainly adds to the excitement of Expo and demonstrates some of the leadership excellence which is present in the dairy industry."

Nominations are to be accepted through April 1 for four awards. The awards are for industry person of the year, dairy woman of the year, dairyman of the year, and international person of the year.

The industry person of the year award is presented to an individual in recognition for excellence in research, development, education, marketing, manufacturing, or other fields which are part of an industry or institution that provides goods or services to the dairy industry.

The dairyman and dairy woman of the year awards are for those people who are active dairy producers and whose primary source of income comes from their dairy enterprise. The farming operation needs to demonstrate and excel in efficient production and breeding of quality animals. Progressive management practices and a history of achievement will also need to be evident. Involvement in community, government activities, marketing organizations, and other aspects of the dairy industry are also considered.

The international person of the year award is for those whose contribution to improved international relations and/or development of the dairy industry internationally.

Selected awardees are to be honored during the 29th World Dairy Expo, set for Oct. 4-8, in Madison, Wis.

Official applications are available through the World Dairy Expo office at (608) 251-3976.

The expo is the largest commercial dairy agri-businesses trade show and dairy cattle exhibition of its kind. This past year, 66,000 guests attended, including 3,200 visitors from 70 other countries.

Tobacco Grower Meeting

THE 1995 ANNUAL MEETING OF THE PENNSYLVANIA TOBACCO GROWERS ASSOCIATION WILL BE HELD:

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 16TH, 1995
PARADISE TOBACCO AUCTION BARN
BEGINNING AT 9:00 A.M.

GROWING TRANSPLANTS USING THE FLOAT SYSTEM

Growing Tobacco Transplants using the float system has become very popular in southern tobacco growing regions.

This year the educational program will be presented by Dr. W. David Smith, extension tobacco specialist at North Carolina State University. Dr. Smith has been active in tobacco research since 1978. He began looking at the greenhouse for transplant production in 1982, and has been working with the float system since 1984. He will be discussing the advantages of the float system and how best to manage the production of transplants. He will also be talking about the control of tobacco diseases and insects during the transplanting process.

higher percentage of red fruit.

Carousel Planter Grower Experiences

Dwight Hess, a grower for Furman Foods in Marietta, moderated a panel that discussed tomato grower experiences using carousel planters.

All agreed there was a definite and significant advantage to using either six-cup or eight-cup transplants over the finger method.

Tomato growers at the panel included Ken Martin, farm manager, Furman Foods, Northumberland; Dale Frank, Elizabethtown; Dan Mower, Marietta; and Cliff Charles, Lancaster.

Hess said that he uses a 288-cell tray, with tomato plants sown in greenhouses about 4-6 weeks prior to field planting. The plants are "hardened off" outside the greenhouse 1-2 days prior to transplanting.

Using a carousel planter is advantageous because it provides more uniform row placement and, most importantly, saves on labor and time compared to the finger placement method.

Circular carousel planters used by the panel include one eight-cup, two six-cup, and one four-cup.

The growers agreed that the planters allow the growers to use less transplanting water, do a better job of sealing the soil around the plant, and provide more uniform stand. But the growers had to make sure the seedbed was loose and even and the transplanter timing was checked periodically.

Mower indicated that the old finger method allowed 8,000 plants per hour placement in the field. Using a six-cup unit, 11,000 plants per hour are placed in the field. Soaking the transplants allowed more faster dropping and movement of transplants from carousel to the shoe.

Editor's note: More conference coverage next issue.

Growers Achieve Honors At Vegetable Conference

ANDY ANDREWS

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) —

Awards were presented to several state vegetable growers during banquets held Tuesday at the 1995 Pennsylvania Vegetable Conference and Trade Show.

At the Tomato Awards Luncheon at noon, awards were presented to the 1994 tomato growing champions by the Champion Tomato Growers' Club. Top growers in different classes received an engraved plaque for high tomato production and record-keeping practices during the "Tomato Day" session of the vegetable conference.

The following winners were recognized at the luncheon:

- Class 1 Machine Harvest (60 or more acres): Cliff Charles, Lancaster, won the award for the highest tomato yield in this class. He harvested 2,734 tons of usable fruit for Furman Foods on 100 acres for a 27.3 tons per acre average yield. Varieties grown included Early Pear, Peto 696, Ohio 8245, and Heinz 9478. The 288 and 338 plug transplants, grown in his own greenhouses, were planted with a Lanner cup planter at a population of 13,000 plants per acre. The double rows are planted on 66-inch centers with a 15-inch spacing in the row and 19 inches between rows. The transplants went into the fields from April 25-May 25. Tomatoes are rotated in a three-year program with corn or small grains in double-crop soybeans. Some fields had a small application of manure and generally all fields had fertilizer applied in a 1-2-3 ration of N-P-K in the spring. If additional nitrogen was required, calcium nitrate was applied at 20 pounds/acre. Tomato yields varied greatly because of excessive moisture.

- Class 2 Machine Harvest (40-59 acres): Dale Frank, Elizabethtown, harvested 1,170 tons of usable fruit for Furman Foods on 50 acres for a 23.4 tons per acre average yield. Peto 696, Heinz 9478, and LaRossa were grown from tray transplants at a population of 10,000 plants per acre and transplanted on May 2-13 with a three-row rotary planter. Tomatoes were not grown on beds, and the single rows were spaced five feet from center and plants were 10 inches in the row. Tomatoes are rotated in a three-year program with corn or small grains in double-crop soybeans. The rotation consists of tomatoes-corn-corn or tomatoes-double crop barley/soybeans-corn. Lime was applied. Tomatoes are sidedressed with liquid nitrogen at 30 pounds per acre. A high phosphorous starter fertilizer (10-54-4) was applied at 15 pounds per acre at planting.

- Class 3 Machine Harvest (25-39 acres): Clyde Kreider and Rohrer, Lancaster, harvested 737 tons of usable fruit for Furman Foods on 26 acres for a 28.3 tons per acre average yield. Transplants of Peto 696 were planted May 12-19. The tomatoes were grown in single rows at a population of 11,000 plants per acre with a five-foot spacing between rows and 9.5 inches in the row. A three-year crop rotation is followed which includes soybeans-corn-tomatoes. Lime was applied. Also, 8,000 gallons per acre of cow manure was used to fertilize the tomato crop in 1994.

- Class 4 Machine Harvest (15-24 acres): Nissley Brothers, Mount Joy, Darwin and Bernard Nissley harvested 555 tons of usable fruit for Furman Foods on 19 acres for a 29.1 tons per acre average yield. Peto 696 transplants were grown at a population of 10,000 plants per acre and transplanted May 20-25. The tomatoes were not grown on beds and the single rows were spaced five feet from center and plants were 10 inches in the row. A four-year crop rotation is followed, corn-soybeans-corn-tomatoes. Lime was applied. Steer manure was applied at 10 tons per acre and plowed down prior to final soil preparation on eight acres. All 19 acres had 200 pounds per acre of phosphorous and potassium prior to planting. Both fields were sidedressed with liquid nitrogen between 30 and 60 pounds per acre after planting.

- Class 1 Hand Harvest (15 or more acres): Robert MacBeth, MacBeth, Biglerville, harvested 442.3 tons of usable fruit for Furman Foods on 16 acres for a 27.6 tons per acre average yield. Plug transplants of Ohio 7681 were planted May 10-16 at 8,500 plants per acre. The tomatoes were grown in single rows with a 46-inch spacing between rows and 16 inches in the row. A four-year crop rotation is followed, which includes wheat-hay-corn-tomatoes. No lime was applied. Nitrogen was broadcast and plowed down at 84 pounds per acre, and a sidedress application of 8-24-8 was applied at 526 pounds per acre with minor elements after the plants were established.

- Class 3 Hand Harvest (2-5 acres): Clyde Sensenig, Port Treverton. Sensenig harvested 91 tons of usable fruit for Furman Foods on 2.5 acres for a 36.4 tons per acre average yield. Fruit was harvested from August 22-Sept. 12. Additional information was not available.

The Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers Association honored two members with lifetime memberships at the banquet held Tuesday evening. The awards were presented by James Kohl, president of the association. Receiving awards were Donald Daum, University Park and Tom Jurchak, Clarks Summit.

Richard Pallman, Pallman Farms, Clarks Summit, presented a special award to James Kohl, president of the state vegetable growers, at the banquet.

Get Back Your Milk Assessment Money If...

According to Jennifer Hershey, director of the Consolidated Farm Service Agency (CFSA) office in Lebanon County (which used to be called the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service), the application program is relatively simple, and the process has not changed since the program started in 1990.

The dairy assessment program is one in which an assessment has been placed on the commercial sale of raw milk. The USDA, through its Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) collects the money out of the producer's milk check and refunds the money to those who have kept their milk production and sales at previous-year levels or lower.

The amount of refunds made sets up the rate for which further assessments are made, consequently making it more costly to constantly expand production.

By law, all who sell milk are required to have the deduction taken off of their milk check.

The amount of money owed to an individual producer can be significant.

The rate of assessment has varied for 1994. In January, it was 10.12 cents per hundredweight (cwt.) of milk sold. Then in February, the assessment jumped to 11.25 cents per cwt.

In May, the assessment almost doubled and was 19.28 cents per hundredweight.

All those who kept their milk production at the previous year's level, or reduced production, are entitled to a full refund of the assessment collected.

For many family farmers, the amount owed to them is what they paid in, and it can range from about $1,000 to more than $3,000.

To apply for their money, dairy farmers should take evidence of their monthly milk marketings, the amount of milk produced, and the amount of assessment paid to the CCC, to the local CFSA office, or call ahead if uncertain that the proper paperwork is in hand.

The comparison of production, for the sake of the refund, is between production during the immediate past year to production during the previous year (two years earlier from the year of filing for a refund).

Also for the purposes of the refund, the "year" is the calendar year, not records-keeping or financial "years."

The requirement for the refund more or less bolsters the advice that farmers should probably keep track of their herd's production — if not for their own herd and business management, then to make sure they don't lose refund money.

The program doesn't just look at end-of-year totals, but also "...when compared to the equivalent months and days of the immediately preceding calendar year or base period."

Those who have not exceeded milk marketings over the previous year can enjoy the full refund of their money.

There are some built-in guidelines in the program to help prevent fraud, such as attempting to claim a refund on an existing herd's production, while ignoring additional marketings that were made by expanding under a new name.

Under that strategy, considered fraud, a person could expand a dairy operation and lose less money by sacrificing assessments paid on the new herd, rather than losing all paid assessments for the entire operation.

Under the law, the identification of family members, and the amount of interest a producer can own in another milk production operation is among the eligibility considerations for a refund.

According to a news release that the USDA has not had to update for several years, "Producers are eligible to receive refund payments of withheld amounts, if evidence is provided that the producer, and all dairies in which that producer has an interest, did not increase milk marketings ..."

There are definitions of who is "family," and what constitutes a "related person."

A "family member" is the "...parent, grandparent, or legal guardian; the spouse of a parent or grandparent; spouse; the son, daughter, grandson, or granddaughter, or the spouse of any of these persons; siblings and the spouses of these siblings."

A "related person" is, "The spouse and minor child of the person (claiming a refund); guardian or parent of a minor child; any corporation in which the person is a stockholder, shareholder, or owner of equal to, or greater than, 10 percent interest in the corporation; any partnership, joint venture, or other enterprise in which the person has an ownership interest or financial interest; any trust in which the person seeking the refund payment, or any person listed above, is a beneficiary or has a financial interest; any estate. An estate shall be treated the same as the deceased individual."

According to the news release, if an individual farmer applies for a refund for the farm, the agency will only request information on the first level of relation.

On the other hand, a multi-interest dairy producer, not an individual, that applies for a refund is to report all first-level and second-level related people. The second level people are determined by listing all the related persons for the first level of related persons.

The assessment program was a result of the 1990 Farm Bill (Food Agriculture, Conservation, and Trade Act of 1990 and 1991 amendments) and the federal Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990, as authorized under the national Food Security Act of 1985. This round of refunds is the second to the last one in the program.

The program is scheduled to stop after 1995, which means there will be one more refund period, in early 1996. Whether or not the program is reauthorized in the 1995 Farm Bill, or new legislation, remains to be seen.

In the meantime, Jennifer Hershey said individual producers in Lebanon County have been mailed a notice which outlines the types of records necessary in order to successfully apply for a refund on dairy assessments.

Other producers in other counties should have received a similar notice. If not, then they should contact their local CFSA office.

Details of the program have changed little since the program started. The application period continues through to a final deadline of March 15.

For more information, contact a local CFSA office or cooperative extension office.

BLUE BALL (Lancaster Co.) — The Blue Ball National Bank ag seminar featured a number of speakers with good ideas about farming. These speakers included Timothy Clemens, Hatfield consumer relations officer; James Myer, Lititz beef farmer; Dr. Darcie Stolz, Strasburg veterinarian; Don Robinson, Lancaster Soil Conservation District manager, and Louis Moore, Penn State ag economics professor.

Stolz gave the definition of health and bio security as the management practices that protect the herd from entry of new disease and minimize the adverse effects of disease in the herd. She said you need to control the new arrivals on the farm and curb farm traffic, wild birds, the movement of animals, rodents, pets, people, and equipment on the farm.

In addition, you need preventative medicine, and you need to maintain high disease resistance and good meat and milk quality. "You want to focus on control," Stolz said. "You want your herd to 'PURR'; that is, you want to pay attention to production, udder health, reproduction, and replacements.

"For every pound increase in the peak production of a dairy cow, you increase her total production by 250 pounds for the lactation. On a 40 cow herd that translates into 10,000 pounds of increased production over those lactations. At $12.50 milk, that is an increase of profits of $1,250."

Conversely, Stolz said an increase of only two SCC points will decrease production by three pounds per cow per day and that translates into $5,400 lost in the 40 cow herd. She said the most important information you obtain from DHIA records is the SCC count.

Robinson gave an inspirational talk on how to pass on a farm heritage. He said that the caption under the now famous poster of two little boys dressed as farmers which says, "You been farmin' long?" might well read, "Are you going to be farming long?"

"Are our farm children a genesis?" Robinson asked. "As your children go, so goes your farm. As the nation's farm children go, so goes agriculture." He said that pride with a small "p" was the satisfaction of a job well done as was part of the farming heritage of "proud to be a farmer."

"History is something that is past," Robinson said. "A heritage is alive, something passed on. Heritage with no future is history."

Robinson said the future of agriculture is threatened most by farms with no one to take over or by situations where there is no heritage to pass on. "How many farms are sold when a child is eager and ready to take over?" Robinson asked rhetorically. "Not many. I know we can't force children to stay. But when children are involved in decision-making, they are more likely to want to stay. "Don't wait to give respect, responsibility and resources to your children. Start small, plan to increase involvement as the child matures. Teach the child well and then let the child try.

Robinson said children should get involved in record keeping. He said you can't pass on a way of life unless you also pass on a business.

"You send a message to your children with deed restrictions and implementation of conservation

START WITH THE BEST!

POURED CONCRETE WALLS

You get about 40% more concrete for your dollar with a poured, solid concrete basement as compared to a hollow core block basement.

A poured solid concrete basement weighs about 50 lbs. more per cubic foot! Far denser. What's more, poured solid concrete walls are monolithic - there are no joints!

This is why laboratory tests show poured, solid concrete basements have many times the flexural and compressive strength to withstand the side and down pressures caused by earth, wind, water and building loads and the material density to resist water penetration.

Best of all, thanks to modern and efficient construction techniques, poured, solid concrete basements are competitively priced.

Chester County Holstein Tour
The Chester County Holstein Club will be taking their annual spring farm tour to Northampton County and Warren County, N.J., on Thursday, March 2.

The bus will leave from Dick Hostetter's farm on Rt. 30, Parkesburg, at 7:45 a.m., and is to return at approximately 8:30 p.m. The cost is $15 per person, which includes the bus trip and dinner. Participants should pack a lunch for the trip. All dairy farmers and friends are welcome.

For reservations, call Jim Miller at (610) 935-8668; John St. John at (610) 869-8745; or John Hostetter at (610) 932-8664.

The tour features an outstanding collection of top Holstein herds. The stops in Northampton County are at Keystone Farm and Klein Farm. The tour will continue across the Delaware River to Warren County, N.J., with stops at Bill Kerkendall's Farm, Gibbs-Quest Farm, and Tranquillity Farm.

Top bloodlines, excellent dairy type and production, and good sound management practices will be seen throughout the day.

Chemsweep

The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture has extended the deadline for Chester County farmers to request the disposal of unwanted, unusable, outdated, or cancelled pesticides until March 12.

This is the ideal solution to solving the problem of pesticide disposal. It is safe. It is free. There are no penalties for participating.

If you need a request form, contact Chester County Extension at (610) 696-3500.

Pesticide Education

The use of some pesticides in agriculture is essential, but the practice is constantly under fire by suburban residents and environmentalists.

The key to the problem is for both sides — farmers and suburbia — to realize both the need for pesticides and the cautions that must be observed.

I constantly receive calls from neighbors of farming operations questioning how safe their water or environment is. I try to assure them that there are safeguards written concerning the use of all types of pesticides to protect them and the community.

However, this is only true if farmers and agri-businesses adhere to the rules. Here are a few ideas to make you, the farmer, a good neighbor in the community.

1. Properly dispose of chemicals and empty containers. Chemsweep will get rid of old pesticides. Material remaining in the sprayer at the end of a spray cycle should be sprayed on a field and not poured down a groundhog hole. Containers should be triple rinsed.

2. Don't spray too close to a neighbor's property line. Public relations-wise, a few weeds on the first corn row is better than killing your neighbor's rose bushes.

3. Don't spray too close to streams and ponds — protect the water supply.

4. Don't mix or spill chemicals near a wellhead. You could poison your own family.

5. Don't allow children or visitors access to chemicals. This includes milkhouse cleansers and acids that are deadly if ingested or even spilled on the skin in a concentrated form.

All of these points are included in a common sense approach to using pesticides and chemicals. Treat your neighbors to the same safety precautions you want for your own family.

Producers Sought For Growers' Markets

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Farmers looking for a new opportunity to retail their products this season are invited to attend an exploratory meeting about a new producer-only growers' market in Quarryville.

The meeting at 2 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 11 will be held in the Hoffman Community Building located at the Quarryville Fairgrounds. The Fairgrounds are located along Route 472 in Quarryville.

Selling fresh produce and other farm products directly to consumers at a new market is a golden opportunity to either expand your existing sales, or get started in retail marketing. New growers' markets in some of our neighboring states have proven to be a wonderful bonanza to both new and existing farmers. The goal is to create such a market here, where farmers will reap new financial benefits from their efforts.

This meeting will help set the direction of such a market. Farmers who raise fruits, vegetables, herbs, eggs, plants, honey or any other shelf-stable farm product, should attend. They will hear a brief overview of the opportunity and have ample time to discuss it. Details such as rules, products, and sale times will be covered.

This marketing effort is being sponsored by the Pennsylvania Association for Sustainable Agriculture (PASA). If you would like additional information about the meeting, contact Leon Weber at (610) 683-1401.

Another growers' market is envisioned for West Chester. The West Chester Growers' Market exploratory meeting will be held

Pesticide Certification Credit Meetings

Two different educational meetings concerning the application of pesticides have been scheduled for Chester County.

The meetings are open to all interested, but should be of special interest to those required to obtain or maintain a pesticide applicator's permit under the law.

A Young Farmers meeting concerning pesticides has been set for 7-9 p.m., Thursday, Feb. 23, at the Owen J. Roberts High School. Those who attend will earn one core and one category credit toward certification.

Another meeting has been set for 7-9 p.m., Tuesday, March 14, in Room 171 of the Chester County Cooperative Extension Government Services Center, located at 601 Westtown Road, in West Chester. Attendance at this meeting can earn two core and two category credits.

For more information on the meetings, call the Chester County Cooperative Extension office at (610) 696-3500. For more information on the state pesticide applicator certification program, call the state Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Plant Industry, at (717) 787-4843. Or call one of the department's seven regional offices: Region I (814) 332-6890; Region II (717) 327-3550; Region III (717) 836-2181; Region IV (412) 443-1585; Region V (814) 946-7315; Region VI (717) 787-3400; Region VII (215) 489-1003.

ADC Locals To Meet

SOUTHAMPTON (Bucks Co.) — Two locals of the Atlantic Dairy Cooperative are to meet mid-February, according to recent news releases.

During most of the meetings, members who have qualified for the cooperative's quality milk bonus for 12 consecutive months receive recognition for their quality production.

Also, elections of officers, delegates and alternate delegates are usually held, if applicable.

Donegal, Lititz Locals

The Donegal and Lititz locals of ADC's District 7 is to hold its annual dinner meeting noon Feb. 14 at the Country Table Family Restaurant in Mount Joy. Robert Mcsparran, a Lancaster County dairy farmer and president of the cooperative is to be the guest speaker, and he is to report on cooperative business and dairy industry news.

Also during the meeting, elections are to be held for the local's officers, delegates and alternate delegates.

In addition, quality premium awards are to be presented to Paul S. Sauder, of Donegal, and John K. Peters & Son, of Manheim.

Cove-Bedford-Everett

And New Enterprise

The Cove-Bedford-Everett and the New Enterprise locals of ADC's District 21 are to hold its at 10 a.m. on Saturday, Feb. 25. The meeting will be held in the Council Chambers of the West Chester Municipal Building at 401 E. Gay Street, West Chester.

practices," Robinson said. "You give the message that there is a heritage to be passed on and it is valuable. You say you count on the future generation to keep going, to continue our heritage. You say no one is going to pull the rug out from under you to make a quick buck, because I trust you."

"Let's work hard to communicate our heritage to our children. Show them a proud heritage. Let them see by your actions how important preserving and conserving the farm and the heritage of farming is."

Moore said farm economic outlook for 1995 has more positives than negatives and he expects the economy to grow though not quite as much as in 1994. He said he did not expect a recession in 1995 because the strong economy gave consumers confidence so that they will buy the things farmers produce.

Globally, Moore cited several factors that favored agriculture. These include: the death of Communism in Eastern Europe, NAFTA and GATT, and the population explosion in countries where they cannot produce enough food. Nationally, real inflation is only 2.7 percent, the food supply is good, unemployment is down, and farmers are competitive.

On the negative side, perceived inflation, the cost of entitlements, and the lack of a clear national pol-icity were mentioned.

On the farm bill, Moore said he expected a cutback in payments to farmers, but in Pennsylvania this represents only one percent of farm income. He said the new farm bill will be much like the last one.

On production, he said farmers have become so productive it is scary. The corn crop was the best ever at 10.1 billion bushels, and soybeans came in at 2.56 billion bushels.

"No one ever dreamed of such production," Moore said. We didn't have to produce more acres. We produce more per acre."

Moore said lower feed costs would help the farmers producing milk and meat but would not be good for grain farmers. In summary, he expects a strong economy, good exports, and record meat production. He said corn production was not likely to reach the record 1994 year again until after the turn of the century. Net cash income is expected to be down four to six percent, but things are looking a little better for beef and hogs.

In other topics, Clemens covered "Maintaining a Strong Family Relationship in a Growing Business." And Myer talked about "Successful Farm Growth from Generation to Generation."

About 200 farmers attended the luncheon meeting in the Blue Ball Fire Hall.

Poland. The purpose of the trip was to assist 4-H clubs established in Poland and to be a living example of what 4-H is all about.

Rutt said she was amazed at how well the clubs operated since their establishment three years ago. With almost a two-thirds cut in Poland Extension staff, the biggest obstacle is to locate volunteer leaders for the clubs. At present, extension agents are fully responsible for the clubs because citizens are suspicious of volunteering, which was equated to brown nosing with the government under Communist rule for many years.

Beef Industry Representatives Discuss Safety Concerns

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff
LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — America has the safest and most abundant food supply in the world.

It's a statement often repeated, though apparently many American consumers — arguably very unaware of the real-world conditions the average human being faces, concerning food safety and availability — don't seem to believe it.

Nevertheless, that statement is the pride-cry of the meat industry and it was the preface to comments made Tuesday during a panel discussion of the USDA's administration of its "Zero Tolerance" rule, held as part of the annual Lancaster County Cattle Feeder's Day, at the Farm and Home Center, in Lancaster.

County Livestock Agent Chester Hughes put together the panel which was moderated by Dr. Bill Henning, a Penn State University meat specialist, in its Department of Dairy and Animal Science.

On the panel were Billy Lloyd, representing the National Cattlemen's Association, based on Englewood, Colo.; K.T. Miller, public relations director for meat processor Monfort Inc., a subsidiary of Conagra Red Meat Companies; Walter Olsted, who is a staff officer of the USDA Food, Safety and Inspection Service; and Myron Stoltzfus, of Stoltzfus Meats Inc., a family butchering and meat processing business in Intercourse.

Henning began the discussion by stating several facts about the meat industry and the related health concerns that have come to public attention, more so in recent years.

An incident in 1993 in which several people died from eating improperly cooked hamburger that was contaminated with a deadly, rare form of E. coli caused a lot of finger pointing within the industry and resulted in the adoption of a policy for slaughter houses of zero-tolerance for contamination of meat carcasses by common E. coli-bearing materials, such as fecal material, or other material from the digestive tract.

As imposed, federal inspectors on line at slaughter houses have the obligation to stop production lines if they observe carcasses with specs of possible fecal material, and then have a worker trim the offending-looking material, along with meat from the carcass.

Those representing the meat processing industry complained not so much about the waste of the process, but the fact that it slowed down lines, resulting in carcasses being exposed for longer periods of time to temperatures and conditions that could spread the growth of bacteria.

They also complained that the zero-tolerance regulation was not based on any type of scientific (logical) reasoning. The visual identification of material on a carcass as possibly coming from the animal's digestive tract has no bearing on whether it constitutes a contamination of the carcass by E. coli bacteria.

The industry representatives were in consensus that what is needed are testing procedures for bacteria which are fast, effective and reliable; a science-based system of slaughtering and carcass chilling that stresses the final state and condition of a processed carcass; more research and political support for sound science; and an insistence that end-product users be held responsible for their actions (90 percent of foodborne illness has been traceable to food service industry mishandling, and about 10 percent to household mishandling).

According to Henning, from the time a domestic meat animal leaves the farm, the only way to ensure the food safe from possible contamination of E. coli is to cook the meat properly, to a temperature of at least 155 degrees.

Olsted, gave a perspective of the USDA under the regime which implemented the "zero-tolerance" rule.

According to Olsted, for the first time since the USDA's Food Safety Inspection Service inception in 1906, there is a lawyer administering the program, Mike Taylor, formerly with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration.

According to Olsted, Taylor has realigned some of the power at the top of the organization and has brought in a physician to head a new agency to advise him on food borne illnesses.

Also, former Agriculture Secretary Mike Espy created the position of undersecretary of food safety, so now the administrator of the FSIS has more power, he said.

The group of panelists also discussed the implementation of HACCP, which is a program Taylor brought to the department. HACCP is an acronym for Hazard Analysis and Critical Control Points.

HACCP is a method of examining a system and locating its weak points, and then focusing on those weak points. It can be used with any type of industry. It could even be implemented on a family farm to increase worker safety, or to stave off mastitis in a dairy herd.

Ironically, at the same time on Tuesday that the panelists were telling the 200 or more attendees to the program about HACCP, it was being published in the Federal Register as proposed regulations.

According to a Wednesday article published in the Wall Street Journal, acting Agriculture Secretary Richard Rominger said, "We are proposing to reinvent the meat and poultry inspection system, which is currently based primarily on sight, touch and smell."

The proposal is to be published in final form after four months of review by the public, according to the report.

Perhaps the most striking comments from board members were those made by Myron Stoltzfus, who related in a prepared statement conditions of working with the regulations coming from the USDA, the voluminous details, constant revisions, extra and additional associated costs, some of the prima donna behavior of some federal inspectors, and the frustration of trying to maintain a small business in the face of ridiculous, politically or bureaucratically motivated regulations.

In his opening statement, Stoltzfus said the USDA should be aware that, especially in relation to the zero-tolerance requirements, the "... tolerance level of small business is about zero."

Stoltzfus, who repeated the statement that America has the safest food supply in the world, and in history, said it was a challenge to understand the actions of the federal government.

He said he read statements from people in Washington saying that the regulations can't wait for science to catch up.

That doesn't make any sense, he said, in light of the fact that one of the leading experts on E. coli bacteria has suggested that perhaps the reason that the rare deadly form of E. coli formed was as a result of the almost microbially bacteria-free meat that the American system attempts to demand.

According to Stoltzfus, the researcher has suggested that perhaps the best way to ensure that deadly forms of E. coli (normally a common harmless bacteria found almost everywhere) do not culture in food, is to allow the harmless bacteria to take hold.

Maryland Meetings

FREDERICK, Md. — Two different Maryland farm program are scheduled for Feb. 7 and Feb. 8 at the Walkersville Fire Hall.

On Feb. 7, the annual Frederick County Winter Meeting is scheduled with registration and a trade show to start at 8:30 a.m., and the formal program to start at 10 a.m.

Registration is $3.

On the program are topics of weed control, intensive grazing, pasture management, government programs, organic by-product fertilizers, and alternative agriculture options.

A large part of the winter meeting is the interactive trade show — it takes up more than half of the huge fire hall. The show contains a wide range of agribusinesses and related industries, in addition to educational displays by different agencies.

On Feb. 8 at the fire hall, the Frederick County "Dairying Today Program," is to be held.

Registration starts at 8:30 a.m., and the formal program begins at 9:30 a.m.

Sponsored jointly by the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service and the agricultural business community, registration is $3 at the door.

This program will also feature a trade show. The formal educational program is to include keynote speaker Dr. Bob Milligan, an agricultural economist with Cornell University, show specializes in farm and other small business management.

Other topics include raising dairy replacements, and raising corn specifically for silage.

For more information on either program, call (301) 694-1594.

How Does Your Herd Compare?

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — These data are calculated using information pulled from Pennsylvania DHIA's mainframe computer each week. It is a one-week summary representing approximately one-fourth of the herds on test, as they are tested monthly.

These data are valuable from a business management standpoint and can be used for comparing your operations to the averages from about one-fourth of the herds across the state.

Announcing Amino Acid Impact Management (AIM), technology for better dairy herd performance

If you're constantly searching for ways to increase milk production, look to AIM, the patent-pending new feed technology from Master Mix Feeds.

tial amino acids that lead to increased milk yields and improved lactational performance.

Optimize protein efficiency

AIM works where other feed systems often come up short. Research has demonstrated that AIM technology optimizes the supply of both feed derived and microbial amino acids to the small intestine. This balanced supply means more efficient amino acid utilization.

Position your dairy operation for the future

AIM is the perfect complement to sound management practices. It provides a precise feed management system. AIM gives you a solution for improving milk and milk component yields.

Meeting essential amino acid needs

Researchers from Master Mix Feeds have developed a patent-pending technology that significantly improves the concentrations of rumen undegradable amino acids of highly digestible proteins. AIM enhances the flow of high quality amino acids directly to the small intestine where they are absorbed and used for milk and milk protein synthesis. AIM technology provides a balanced, and consistent source of essen-

Rural Leadership Training Leads To International Visit

JOYCE BUPP

York Co. Correspondent

MANCHESTER (York Co.)

— Participation in Pennsylvania's rural leadership training program has transformed the way Becky Gross views world agriculture.

Becky and her husband, Stephen Jr., and their 3-year-old son Nevin are the third and fourth generations on the Gross family's livestock and crops farm.

Harold Gross, his son Stephen, Sr. and this wife Phyllis, and grandson Stephen, Jr. and Becky raise 500 head of beef cattle, and maintain a 50-sow hog operation, and crop 1,000 acres in corn, wheat and hay. Grandmother Ethel Gross, a long-time farm women's activist in Pennsylvania, passed away last fall.

Raised in the country, but not on a farm, Becky has embraced the agriculture way of life and become prominently involved in the ranks of young, agriculture leaders in Pennsylvania.

She met Steve at a 4-H meeting held at his home while she was attending with a girlfriend. In addition to 4-H participation, the Gross' have always been active in various programs and leadership roles with the York County Farm Bureau. Through Farm Bureau's Young Farmer and Rancher program, Steve and Becky were invited to represent the county at a leadership conference.

"I really liked it," said Becky, whose outgoing and friendly personality enhance her leadership skills. "After that, we were invited to go to an ag issues educational event in Washington, D.C. That was a very enlightening conference."

Attendees were assigned roles as congressional representatives and exposed to the kinds of tough decisions and controversies which public servants regularly face.

"It gave me a whole new appreciation for what elected officials have to deal with," Becky said. "You begin to really understand how difficult it becomes to please everyone, how important congressional staff people are and also how much a personal, written letter matters to our elected representatives."

"I'm much less critical of Congress since then," she said with a grin.

Becky chairs the state Farm Bureau's Young Farmers and Ranchers activities and helped organize the group's hosting of the national YFR meeting. The group is currently planning a state YFR leadership conference to be held late this month at Hershey.

Becky was also the first Pennsylvania representative to take part in the national YFR's Discussion Meet, a type of debate competition. The purpose of the meet is for participants to develop skills to help them bring an issue to a group consensus through discussion and debate. Discussion meet competitors are judged on their knowledge, ability to stick to an issue, involvement, and verbal cooperation with others.

Inspired by a past YFR chairman who believed the group's issues and policy education should expand beyond the domestic to the international level, Becky found herself last year part of a group setting up a European agriculture tour.

"It's the capstone program of the Young Farmers and Ranchers educational activities. We had to get state board approval, organize it while being cost efficient, and raise our own support or pay our own way," she said.

The New Holland Corporation was a corporate sponsor of the program.

Becky's own individual sponsors were Animal Medic and the York Bank and Trust.

Among the countries visited were Germany, Austria, Liechtenstein, and Switzerland. A real highlight of the tour for Becky was the opportunity to stay with farm families for three of the 10 days.

"We were there first American farmers many of them had ever met that made for instant camaraderie between us. I had a lot of preconceived notions about European agriculture, like believing their dairy subsidies were all wrong. And I liked how their governments are so supportive of farmers and intend never for their people to go hungry again."

"I learned a lot," said Becky. "It's hard to compare because it's very different from here. They still have all the little retail shops and are very small-community oriented. Many of the women have bed-and-breakfast business on the farms and take schooling for that."

As a follow-up to their European tour, participants compiled written reports for their sponsors and are expected to speak and present slide shows to other groups. In March, Becky will present a slide program on the visit to the Dover Young Farmers' meeting.

Along with visits to farms, the YFR groups' diverse stops included two agriculture colleges, a fish hatchery, cheese plants, and the U.S. Embassy in Switzerland.

Through the couple's leadership with the Young Farmers and Ranchers, Becky was referred as a candidate for Pennsylvania Rural Leadership (RULE) training. Rule is a two-year-long program of the Pennsylvania Department of Rural Affairs, held five weekend sessions a year, plus a week in Washington, D.C. The present class, in which Becky is a student, has 26 members.

"RULE teaches the worth and ability of operating in groups, how to work with committees, state and national issues, workings of local government. I've heard speeches given in the program by people I would never have had the opportunity to hear otherwise," she said in praise of the training sessions.

Nevin and Becky look at some of the artifacts she brought home from the European agriculture educational tour she participated in last summer. The white apron she wears came from her stay in Austria.

Becky, son Nevin and Pussyfooter the cat snuggle together on a quilt made by Steve's late grandmother, Ethel Gross, as a wedding gift to the couple.

Special Management Necessary When Growing Crops Organically

Lancaster Farming Staff
HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — Organically grown products often can bring premium prices, whether at the grocery store or at a farm stand. But growers should keep in mind that to grow food "organically" demands a rigorous system of management that focuses on obtaining natural fertilizer sources, putting up with weeds, and controlling plant diseases.

In fact, plant diseases are "probably the greatest problem for organic farmers," said Mark Dornstreich, Branch Creek Farm, Perkasio.

Dornstreich grows organic crops that he markets to select restaurants in north Philadelphia. He spoke to about 100 growers and industry representatives on Tuesday at the 1995 Pennsylvania Vegetable Conference and Trade Show at the Hershey Convention Center.

Dornstreich emphasized the importance of working closely with buyers and developing a clear marketing plan in order to have a successful organic farming business.

Organic farming basically involves the use of "non-chemical inputs," said Dornstreich. That means soil and crop inputs have to be entirely chemical-free, meaning the grower has to use no chemical-based herbicides, insecticides, and fertilizers.

Cultivation is the primary method of weed control. Dornstreich said he has learned to put up with the weeds. "We're used to seeing weeds," he said. "We don't go nuts if we see weeds."

He said when he looks at crops growing in other areas, in different operations, and sees no weeds, he begins to have "strange feelings" about the so-called weed control being used.

Also, cultivating weeds provides a mulch cover which is beneficial to soil moisture retention and for control of weeds in row.

The primary source of nutrients is through a compost made up of municipal leaves and horse manure. He said that he collects, locally, about 50-75 tons of leaves every fall. At his Bucks County location, horse manure is readily available from farms, which he collects for the compost. What is involved is a lot of "mixing and turning" to allow the microorganisms in the compost to convert the material into nitrogen for the crops.

Dornstreich said he spends a great deal of time in the fields inspecting crops for insects. He looks at the locations where insect eggs hatch (underneath plants) and scouts for larvae. He said the "farmer's footsteps" do the same job that the "sticky traps" do in counting bugs and in determining what type of insect control to use.

As an organic crop grower, Dornstreich makes use of soaps and other materials to work out insect problems. "The key is to examine the crop and to get on top of things in the early stages," he said.

In many cases, the presence of worms, such as in organically grown sweet corn, "does not put people off," said Dornstreich.

As for plant diseases, that poses a more difficult challenge. He said many organic farmers may have to learn to tolerate more problems and work on other solutions (such as rotation) to deal with disease. Otherwise, organic growers will simply have to put up with more losses compared to more chemical-based products.

Dornstreich emphasized that the same skills, management, and production techniques used by conventional growers also apply with organic farming. But organic vegetable farming is more labor-intensive than conventional vegetable farming. He said it was more important to "look at the overall horticulture picture and not find ourselves divided up into different camps of practice."

Wellness Facts

*Carrots have twice as much beta carotene as they did in 1950 according to a report by the USDA, making them one of the best sources of this important antioxidant. Scientists are constantly improving food crops and developing new varieties.

*Using a Wok—It's well known that cooking in iron pots and pans adds iron to foods cooked in them.

But steel cookware, which is 98% iron can be just as good a source of dietary iron. A recent study at Texas Tech University in Lubbock found that stir-frying in steel woks increased the iron content of foods, usually by 200 to 500%. The iron content of 3.5 ounces of vegetables, for instance, rose from .4 to 3.5 milligrams when stir-fried in a wok.

patz

Here is something often overlooked...

Only Patz gives you 45 years of experience with hook-and-eye chain, resulting in a chain so good that others are attempting to copy it.

Many Patz Gutter Cleaner chains are still working well after more than 30 years of use.

After the Patz patent on hook-and-eye chain expired, some other companies have attempted to copy the Patz chain. Some promote 10- and 12-year warranties on chain—but they have not yet had 10 or 12 years of experience with hook-and-eye chain.

Patz has continued to improve its chain for 45 years with special-formula steel, special forging techniques and special steel hardening processes.

Rely on the proven, long-life chain. Patz provides a 15-year chain warranty because so many chains are working well long after 15 years of use.

Better yet, your Patz chain warranty is backed up by a solid, reliable company that has been serving farmers for 45 years with the same family ownership.

Insist on Patz chain!

What thousands of dairyman know: Patz chain is your best buy!

Frozen silage? No problem!

For frozen silage and hard-packed haylage, the Patz cutter-and-claw gathering chain outperforms augers. This time-proven chain with its chain-saw cutting action cuts out frozen silage aggressively. Shouldn't your next unloader have a gathering chain?

The Model RD-820 Silo Unloader features:

RING-DRIVE: With the roller-chain ring drive, only one motor powers the machine.

AUTOMATIC LOWERING OPTION: A winch lowers the RD-820 automatically after each complete revolution.

POWER CUTTER: Spring tension keeps high-speed, self-sharpening blades tight to the silo wall to shave it clean.

TORQUE LIMITER: Ratchet-pin design protects the ring and drive system while working through tough conditions.

Affordable financing directly from Patz.

Although the Gross' raise calves primarily for their steer fattening enterprise, Becky occasionally grows a heifer calf, like this Angus crossbred.

"I went into it without any particular expectations, but I am amazed at the accomplishments of the people who have gone through it in previous classes. I was surprised at how much it taught me.

"Each of these experiences has left me a better person," Becky said. "If I hadn't found RULE, I probably wouldn't have had the courage to go with the European tour by myself. It's made the biggest change in me as a person."

In addition to citing Steve's support for her involvement in ag leadership activities, Becky readily credits his mother for her help.

"Phyllis is the single reason I can do the things I've been able to do. She's the kind of person who will give me an honest answer to things I ask her. She's more a friend than a mother-in-law. She helps keep Nevin when I go away. And she's taught me to value time by myself," Becky said with appreciation.

Being a mother to 3-year-old Nevin has made her learn to prioritize in her life, Becky believes.

"I never realized before how much children mimic adults," she said. Smiling, she said, "Nevin is such a miniature of his father."

Along with handling the bookwork for the family's cattle operation, Becky raises the bay calves to weaning. She usually has 15 to 20 calves to milk at a time. Weaning them at several weeks of age, when they're consuming adequate levels of dry feed. Her favorites are the crossbred calves, which she feels gave more durability in comparison to purebreds.

Though both her RULE class and her term as chair for the state's Young Farmers' and Ranchers' committee will soon end, Becky looks ahead to other challenges. She would like to see the YFR group start a state-to-state exchange. She's helping to organize Penn's Agri-Women's annual Ag Day activity at the state Capitol. And, with Nevin headed for kindergarten in two years, she's become interested in the workings of the local school board.

"The whole farming experience," she said, "has changed my life."

Ida's Notebook by Ida Risser

As I sit and mend some clothes and sew on a few buttons, I'm reminded of a job that my mother had many years ago.

My parents started farming in 1919, one year after they were married. Their farm was 55 acres and they had two horses and a cow and a pig plus a few chickens. My father cut a lot of potatoes, by hands to plant the first year.

After the hay was harvested, he decided to put his horses out to eat some of the grass. So, he put a barbed wire fence around the field behind the barn. Well, those horses ran and ran right through the fence. At that time people did not put white strips of cloth on the wire.

Fred ran through into the next field without any more than a few scratches but Ben tore a large flap of skin loose on the underside of his belly.

The next thing my mother knew she was told to get her needle and thread and sew the three-corner of skin fast to his body. Believe it or not, that good tempered horse stood quietly and let her crawl under him to repair the damage. Fred had a different temperament and probably would have kicked her.

I'm surely glad that my husband never gave me a job like that. But, my son did the same thing for his dog when he was hit by a tractor. Jeffrey got needle and thread and sewed the loose skin fast to the rest of the coat on the Irish Setter. At least that was not as bad as when he had to have loose skin sewed to his own head. You see, his heifer dragged him and he was determined not to let go of her. That was one of many escapades that he had.

Time-Smart Planning

Spending a little time each week planning meals can save time and money at the grocery store, and put more nutritious meals on the table faster. Here are some guidelines to help the process. They may sound simple, but you will be amazed by how much time they can save!

*Learn to love lists. Prepare your shopping list at the same time you plan a week's menus, noting package and can sizes whenever possible. Keep an on-going list on the refrigerator so you and others can jot down items as they're used up.

*Note menus your family really likes and save them. Soon you'll have a good collection of family favorites that'll make your meal planning easier and faster.

*Before you go shopping, check your newspaper for advertised specials and coupons. Note these, with brands and places, right on your list. But remember, don't buy something just because it's on sale: it's never a bargain if you don't use it, no matter how low the price.

Heart Smart Cooking

February is Heart Month. Eating to have a healthier heart means cutting down on fat, especially saturated fat. Eating more low-fat vegetables, fruits, and dried beans can help to keep your saturated fat intake low. Winter soups and stews can feature vegetables and dried beans, with added variety of color and flavor in the bowl, as well as fiber and other important nutrients. Use dried herbs instead of fats for seasoning.

Even low-fat foods can become high-fat dishes if prepared with sauces, creams, and butter. For example, a plain potato has no fat, but when topped with butter or sauces, the potato ends up having far more calories than the potato itself.

You can continue to make most of your family's recipes by learning to substitute lower-fat ingredients for higher ones. Substitute two egg whites for an egg, plain low-fat yogurt or no-fat sour cream for sour cream, sherbert or low-fat frozen yogurt for ice cream, skim milk for whole milk, lean ground turkey for sausage, part-skim mozzarella for mozzarella cheese, and raisins for chocolate chips.

Use cooking methods that require little or no added fat such as steaming, broiling, stir-frying and baking.

If you do fry, use liquid vegetable or olive oil.

For soups and stews, remove most of the fat by cooling the dish, then skimming the fat from the top and reheating.

Use salt and sodium in moderation as high blood pressure is less common in diets low in salt and sodium.

BEAN AND POTATO SOUP

- 3 pounds mixed beans
- 16-ounce can chicken broth
- 3-5 stalks celery, diced
- 1 onion, chopped
- 1 carrot, grated
- 1 bay leaf
- 5-7 new potatoes, diced
- 4 cups water
- 8 ounces tomato sauce

Prepare beans according to directions, soaking if needed. Combine all ingredients except tomato sauce in a dutch oven or large soup kettle. Simmer 2-6 hours. After 2 hours, add tomato sauce and heat through. Remove bay leaf before serving.

If desired, add more water during last half hour to dilute soup to desired consistency.

LIGHT CARROT CAKE

- 4 carrots, about 2 cups grated
- 1½ cups all-purpose flour
- 1 cup whole wheat flour
- 1½ teaspoon baking powder
- 1½ teaspoon baking soda
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 2 eggs
- 2 egg whites
- 1½ cups light-brown sugar
- ¼ cup oil
- 1 cup applesauce
- ½ teaspoon vanilla extract
- 8-ounce can crushed pineapple, drained
- ½ cup raisins

Frosting:

- 3½ cups confectioners' sugar
- 8-ounce container light cream cheese, chilled

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Spray two 9-inch cake pans with nonstick cooking spray. Grate carrots. Combine both flours, baking powder, baking soda, salt, cinnamon, and nutmeg. With an electric mixer, beat eggs and egg whites until foamy. Beat in sugar. Gradually add oil. Beat in applesauce and vanilla. Reduce speed and beat in flour mixture. Stir in carrots, pineapple and raisins. Put batter in prepared pans. Bake until a toothpick inserted in center comes out clean, about 30 minutes. Cool in pans 10 minutes. Remove and cool completely.

Frosting: Sift confectioners' sugar. With a spoon, gradually beat the sifted sugar into the cream cheese. Do not use an electric mixer as it will soften cheese too much. Spread a cake layer with a third of the frosting on top. Put remaining cake layer on top. Frost top and sides with remaining frosting.

Per slice: 351 calories, 7 grams fat, 327 mg sodium, 32 mg cholesterol.

FAMOUS FUDGE BROWNIES

- 1 egg
  - ½ cup applesauce
  - ¼ cup water
  - Any prepared brownie mix
- Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Use vegetable spray for bottom of 13x9-inch pan. Mix brownie mix, water, applesauce, and egg in large bowl. Beat 50 strokes by hand. Don't undermix. Spread in grease pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 33 to 35 minutes. Don't overbake. Cool completely. Store covered.

Eat plenty of fresh fruit and vegetables for a healthy diet. Low-fat or no-fat substitutions should be made for the higher fat ingredients in your favorite recipes.

BLACK BEAN SOUP

- 3 cups dry black beans
- 6-8 cups water
- 1 tablespoon cooking oil
- 3 tablespoons honey
- 4 carrots, chopped
- 1 large onion, chopped
- 3 stalks celery, chopped
- 1 green bell pepper, chopped
- Salt and pepper
- 1 whole orange

Soak washed beans 2-3 hours or overnight. Cook beans in water, oil, and honey until tender. To speed process, precook beans for 5 minutes in pressure cooker. Put through blender.

Return blended beans to soup pot. Add vegetables and orange which has been cut in half. Simmer 45 minutes to one hour or until vegetables are tender. Gently squeeze out orange halves into soup and discard shells.

DANNON BROWNIES

- Any prepared brownie mix
  - ½ cup plain lowfat yogurt
  - Amount water shown on the package
- Spray 13x9x2 pan with no stick cooking spray. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Combine brownie mix, yogurt, water, and chocolate package (if included) in a bowl; mix well. Spread in pan. Bake 30 minutes or until brownie begins to pull away from edge. Cool.

(NAPS) — "Eggs-actly" what the doctor ordered: That's how some would describe a product, now at local stores, that offers real egg taste and nutrition, without the high cholesterol or fat.

Ideal for egg-lovers who are committed to a healthy, active lifestyle, Second Nature is a refrigerated egg substitute with a fresh, non-frozen taste. It's ready to use — just pour from the container.

Available in cholesterol-free and fat-free versions, Second Nature is made from egg whites. Since the yolk has been removed nutrients are added back so that one serving is nutritionally equivalent to a whole egg.

Second Nature can be used in most recipes calling for whole eggs and can also be used in prepared mixes, in baking, as well as for French toast, omelettes, scrambled eggs, quiche, cookies and cakes. You use just one quarter cup to substitute for one large egg.

You can find pasteurized Second Nature in the fresh egg section of most grocery stores in a pint package and a no-fat version in a twin pack of two eight-ounce cartons. Both packages are 16 ounces and equivalent to eight large eggs. Here's a delicious recipe made with Second Nature that may tempt your sweet tooth.

You can get the great taste of eggs without all the fat and cholesterol.

BUTTERSCOTCH BROWNIES

- Vegetable oil spray
- 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- ¼ cup margarine
- ¼ cup Second Nature
- 1/3 teaspoon butter flavoring
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
- ¾ cup sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 cup chopped pecans

Preheat oven to 350 F°. Lightly spray an 8-inch square baking pan with vegetable oil. In large mixing bowl, cream sugar and margarine together. Add Second Nature, butter flavoring and extract. Blend well. In another bowl, sift flour and baking powder together. Add to margarine mixture and mix well. Stir in nuts. Spread evenly into prepared pan. Bake 20-25 minutes. Cool slightly and cut into 32 bars.

ANSWER — Verba Rowan, Whiteford, Md., wanted to have the recipe for Heath Bar Cake. Thanks to Mrs. Anthony Hathaway, Pittstown, N.J.; Pat Elligson, Millers, Md., and others for sending recipes.

Heath Bar Crunch Cake

Cream together:

½ cup shortening
3 eggs

Add:

½ cup cocoa with 1½ cups cold water

Sift together:

2 cups all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
1¼ teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Add dry ingredients to creamed mixture. Mix just until moist. Bake at 350 degrees in a 9x13-inch baking pan for 35-40 minutes. Cool.

1 or 2 packages Heath bits or crushed Heath bars
1 large package instant chocolate pudding
1 large container whipped topping, thawed

Mix chocolate pudding according to package directions. Crumble half of the cake in the bottom of a 9x13-inch baking dish. Pour half the prepared chocolate pudding over the cake. Now add half the whipped topping. Sprinkle half the crushed Heath bars over the whipped topping. Repeat layers. Refrigerate.

ANSWER — A reader from Bridgewater, Va., wanted recipes for stuffed mushrooms. Thanks to Leora Petet, Lucille Weiby, Hamburg, and others for recipes.

Stuffed Mushrooms

1 pound medium-sized fresh mushrooms
¼ cup lemon juice
1 cup soft bread crumbs
½ cup ham, chopped
2½ tablespoons Parmesan cheese, grated
1 tablespoon parsley flakes
½ teaspoon oregano leaves
¼ teaspoon black pepper
Dash instant garlic powder
¼ cup olive oil
¼ cup beef broth or bouillon cube, dissolved

Rinse, pat dry, and remove stems from mushrooms (reserve stems for use in soups and stews). Dip each mushroom cup in lemon juice. Combine remaining ingredients except oil. Blend well. Fill each cup with a teaspoon of bread crumb mixture. Arrange stuffed mushrooms in shallow baking dish or pie plate. Sprinkle with oil. Pour ¼ -inch hot water to prevent mushrooms from becoming dry. Bake in preheated 400 degree oven for 15 minutes or until they are browned and heated throughout. Serve immediately.

Stuffed Mushrooms

1 pound mushrooms, medium
Wash and pull out stems
In saucepan, saute:
1 cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped onions
2 slices bread cubes
Let cool slightly and add 1 can tiny shrimp. Mix together and stuff in mushrooms. (Stems may also be used in the mixture or steamed alone).
Microwave 3 to 5 minutes or bake in 350 degree oven for 10 minutes.

GARDEN VEGETABLE STIR FRY

¼ teaspoon garlic powder
2 carrots, cut into thin sticks
2 ribs celery, slice thin on diagonal
1 cup broccoli
1 cup shredded cabbage
1 cup thin sliced onions
1 tablespoon soy sauce
2 teaspoons cornstarch
¼ cup water

Mix cornstarch, garlic powder, water, and soy sauce together in small dish and set aside. Heat oil in large skillet. Add carrots and onions, stir-frying until partially cooked. Add cabbage and broccoli. Stir fry 2-3 minutes until vegetables are tender but crisp. Add cornstarch mixture to vegetables slowly, stirring constantly. Cook until bubbly and thickened.

Spinach, mushrooms or any combination of vegetables totaling 5 cups can be used in this recipe.

Serve over cooked rice. If desired, add 1 cup cooked meat or a 16-ounce can kidney beans or a 4-6-ounce package of tofu, cut into cubes.

LOW-FAT MOIST APPLE CAKE

2½ cups peeled, chopped baking apples
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
2 egg whites
1½ cups flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup fresh or frozen cranberries
½ cup chopped pecans or walnuts

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Spray vegetable spray on bottom and sides of large loaf pan. Put wax paper on bottom to make removal easier.

Combine apples, sugar, and oil in medium mixing bowl. Add egg whites, mixing well. Combine dry ingredients and add to mixture, stirring until dry ingredients are moist. Stir in cranberries and walnuts. Bake 60 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean.

Note: Buy extra cranberries in the fall and freeze them. They don't get soggy.

POTATO CRISP

Non-stick vegetable cooking spray
2 medium potatoes
Scrub and wash potatoes. Slice ¼ -inch thick. Line cookie sheet with aluminum foil. Spray foil with vegetable spray. Line potatoes slice on cookie sheet. Sprinkle with garlic salt. Bake at 450 degree oven for 20 minutes. Turn over 10 minutes after baking. Will be nicely browned and crisp. About 4 servings.

"My husband is a potato eater. Since he is a fried potato eater, I had to think of some way to make potatoes so they won't be greasy and he would like them. Guess what? He loves these and they are easy to fix.

Sarah Clark
Breezewood

LOW-FAT MEATBALLS

1½ pounds extra lean ground beef
½ cup chopped onions
2 eggs whites
¼ cup skim milk
¼ cup rolled oats
Mix all ingredients in a large bowl. Make meatballs the size of large walnuts. Bake in 325 degree oven until cooked through. Serve with rice, noodles, or potatoes.

Long-Term Apple Storage Remains Core Research

UNIVERSITY PARK, (Centre Co.) — Researchers in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences have established guidelines for long-term storage of apples that could allow Pennsylvania food processing firms to take a bigger bite of the product pie by responding more quickly to consumer desires.

According to George Greene, associate professor of pomology at Penn State's Fruit Research and Extension Center in Biglerville, better understanding of how different varieties of apples hold up in storage can save thousands of dollars in fruit losses per year for processors. In addition, long-term storage allows firms to keep adequate supplies of fruit on hand to respond to the demands of the marketplace.

Controlled atmosphere (CA) storage extends the shelf life of fruit in two ways. First, lower temperatures (approximately 32 degrees Fahrenheit) retard ripening and reduce water loss. Second, lowering oxygen levels and raising the level of carbon dioxide in storage rooms enables fruit to be stored for up to 12 months.

"Before controlled atmosphere storage, processors would finish most of their canning by December or January, trying to predict what types of products consumers would buy six to 10 months into the future," Greene said. "With CA storage, processors can delay investment in cans, labels, sugar and other components until the company needs the finished goods. They can also make better marketing decisions."

"In CA storage research we try to find the combination of temperature and gas levels that best maintains firmness or crunchiness, juiciness and flavor," Greene said.

The researchers at the fruit lab have done extensive work with the main apple varieties used in fruit processing: York Imperial and Golden Delicious. Greene adds that the lab also tests a wide variety of apples marketed to grocery stores, such as Red Delicious and Rome.

"As new apple varieties for fresh eating or for processing are developed, we test them to find what conditions are best for long-term storage," he said. "Now we're working on two new varieties of fresh market apples: Fuji and Braeburn."

Although Penn State does

extensive research on fresh market apple storage, Greene explains that Pennsylvania's fresh market apple industry is less concerned with long-term storage than other state's apple growers because many packers are finished by April or May. In addition, Pennsylvania producers do not ship fruit long distances as do producers in Washington, for example.

Although controlled atmosphere storage has been used since the 1960s, Penn State's research indicates that growers and packing plants can still improve how they store their fruit before shipping or processing.

For instance, different varieties of apple may require separate atmospheric values for best results. Typically, fruit packers have two large controlled atmosphere storage rooms. Greene points out that dividing larger rooms into smaller areas where each variety of fruit can be given the optimum atmospheric mix of gas and temperature will result in higher quality fruit and less post-harvest loss due to spoilage.

"Another advantage of dividing storage rooms is that it would make it possible to get apples into CA storage that much quicker," Greene said. "If growers are picking 1,000 bushels a day and storing them in 10,000-bushel rooms, it would take only 10 days to start CA storage. If you have a 30,000-bushel room, it will be a month before you can start CA storage."

Day Of Outdoor Adventure Fills Sports Complex

ANDY ANDREWS

Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.)

— Believe it or not, it was a day filled with fierce competition and perilous snakes. It was a day where a youngster went fishing indoors to snare the grand prize — a 4½ pound trout — and he's only four years old!

And the adventure happened last Saturday at the Lancaster Sports and Outdoor Show at the Host Resort Sports Complex.

You had to be there to believe it.

Too young to compete in the BassMaster CastingKids competition, Andrew Gory walked away, head down, from the event, which features a prize Zebco rod and reel combination for two age groups. He was simply too young to compete. But Andrew, 4, with his dad, Scott, was determined to bag a fish. So he grabbed a reel and, within moments after dipping it into a large pool, hauled out a whopping 4½ pound trout, measuring about 12 inches long, the largest in the Trout Fishing Demonstration pool at a booth sponsored by Outdoor Marketing Productions, Cortland, Ohio.

Andrew nodded "yes" when asked if he had extensive fishing experience. But, after placing the line back in the pool, he tried his hand again anyway.

(As of presstime, we didn't know if he snared another.)

At about the same time, Joe Sofchek, who manned the booth, brought out a 4-year-old Burmese Python. "It eats rats," Sofchek said, allowing the children to feel the snake's pliable, vinyl-like skid. He told those who petted the snake that it is getting ready to shed.

And wait! Off in the corner, helping competitors during the CastingKids demonstration, was someone hardly anyone recognized. Who was this man clad in the pearl-white Team Daiwa sportshirt?

It was Scot Neely, youth director of the Capitol Chapter of BassMasters. He was checking out how the Lancaster Chapter ran its show, taking notes, and hoping to incorporate some of the many successful ways the contest is run so the Capitol chapter can stage their own competition.

Sources told us that the Capitol Chapter is going to hold a CastingKids competition just like in Lancaster. The club, in Highspire, plans to stage the competition in Harrisburg in September. If you want to know more, call Neely at (717) 789-4519.

In the CastingKids competition, youth ages seven to 14 held a spin-casting reel fitted with a ¼-ounce Berkley "jig" lure with a plastic crawfish on it that resembles a crayfish. The barb is cut off, for safety's sake. The crayfish is just one of many favorite meals that bass like to eat, according to Bob Oberly, who helped with the competition.

Kids launched the lure to strike the BassMasters target. The center scored 50 points, and the concentric circles scored from 40 on down. Each competitor had two attempts from three separate distances — 10 feet, 20 feet, and 30 feet.

At 10 feet, kids have to cast the lure. At 20 feet, competitors have to pitch the lure to the target. At 30 feet, kids have to flip the lure.

The three highest scores are totalled. The competitors with the highest score from the separate age divisions (age 7-10 and age 11-14) won the special rod and reel prize.

Also, the winners qualify for state competition in March at Stage College. The state winner goes to regional competition in June. The regional winner qualifies for the national competition at the BassMasters Classic in August.

This year, because of good weather, there was a huge turnout, according to Ken Keener, president of the Lancaster County Chapter of BassMasters.

Winners of the Lancaster CastingKids event were, in the 11-14 year old category, Steven Enck, 14, Manheim. There was a tie in the 7-10 year old category between Andrew Buffenmyer and Michael Berzulli. The castoff winner was Andrew Buffenmyer.

Burmese Pythons eat rats! Joe Sofchek, who manned the Outdoor Marketing Productions booth at the sports show, holds on to a 4-year-old python that is "getting ready to shed some skin."

Too young to compete, so go for the fish anyway. Andrew Gory, 4, caught a 4½ pound trout at the outdoor show.

Jake Goodyear, 7, is assisted by Capitol Chapter of BassMasters youth director Scot Neely.

Melissa Wassner, 8, Reading, left, fishes for trout in the big indoor tank at the sports complex. Jake Wilkinson is helping. Melissa says her brother, Matthew, 10, caught a 10-inch trout that day.

Technology To Change Grocery Shopping

ELLIOTTSBURG, (Perry Co.) — One minute challenging the audience with predictions that we will soon do our grocery shopping by computer, while the next minute joking that after 30 years in the business he still doesn't know how to pick a good honeydew, Allan Noddle, president and CEO of Giant Foods, Inc., captivated the crowd assembled to hear this successful businessman at the 74th annual meeting of the Perry County Extension Association.

While noting that Giant Foods has sales of 1.2 billion annually and 10,000 employees, Noddle chose not to dwell on the successful business which he directs. Instead, he provided a glimpse of the future and gave some tips on how to use the coming changes to our benefit. Noddle noted the vote by the Pennsylvania General Assembly to approve the fiber optics network for the state, and said, "When you all have access to fiber optics, many aspects of life will change. Communication will be revolutionized, as well as the tasks that will be done via computer."

Noddle feels strongly that the NAFTA agreement will be good for America, specifically American agriculture. He stated, "No one can outproduce the American farmer." He sighted the technological edge, the natural resources, the free markets and competitive spirit as essential elements in the success of American agriculture.

Predicting that at the turn of the century Korea will be a major world economic power, rivaling Japan, Noddle said, "Don't worry, no matter what you hear, American workers are still the most productive." He said that if Japanese workers were as efficient and productive as American workers, Japan would have to lay off 20,000,000 workers.

Mentioning immigration and the health of our economy, Noddle said, "No matter what you hear about our economy, it is still the most productive and prosperous in the world. Because when immigrants head for better opportunity, where do they go? They come here!"

Noddle spoke for about an hour and took questions from the audience for about 15 minutes. The meeting was held at Messiah Lutheran Church, Elliptsburg.

Approximately 120 people attended according to Dave Swartz, county extension director. Swartz said that about 30 additional folks had called the office requesting tickets to the meeting, but the church could not serve more than 120 people for supper.

Several individuals and families were recognized during the annual meeting including the presentation of the Perry County Soil Conservation District's Conservation-Farmer-of-the-Year Awards. This year three farm families were so honored. Edgar Byers, Millerstown; Phil Brubaker, Loysville; and Russell Raub and family, Duncannon. The Soil Conservation District presents these awards to recognize farm families who have worked hard to have the best soil conservation practices possible on their farms. Oscar Campbell, chairman of the Soil Conservation District's board of directors presented the awards. Campbell also presented a special tribute plaque to Robert Cauffman, Millerstown, for his many years of service as chairman of the Perry County Soil Conservation District Board of Directors.

Becky Kaucher, Perry County 4-H Coordinator, presented a special award to Resta Tressler, Newport, for her 35 years of service as a 4-H club leader. Tressler recalled that when she started in 1960, only girls attended her club.

Bob Winters, an elementary school guidance counselor with Carroll Elementary school, spoke about how Extension programs in the school are of great value to the students. He cited the self-respect program, the nutrition education program and the Farm-City programs as examples of the quality programs delivered by county extension staff in the elementary schools. Winters remarked that this curriculum enrichment was professionally done, and passed on the thanks of the West Perry School District to Penn State for providing this resource.

Other business included remarks by Harold Ott, regional director of Cooperative Extension, who brought greetings from Penn State University. Robert O'Toole and Judy Fry were elected to the board of directors. Allen Kretzing, Loysville; Virgil Gutshall, Blain; and Dave Bratton, Millerstown; completed their term of service on the board of directors.

Nationwide Study Reveals What America Really Eats

CHICAGO, Ill. — The Great Pyramids of Egypt aren't the only pyramids in need of a little maintenance. New data show that most Americans don't follow the government's Food Guide Pyramid, but eat a diet that resembles a Pyramid ready to topple—structurally unsound and top-heavy from too few fruits and vegetables and too many fats, oils and sweets.

The exception is the Meat Group, which is the only one eaten in recommended amounts. "Considering that the meat industry is perceived as being the nutritional problem, this result gives us a positive consumer message," says National Live Stock and Meat Board Chairman Jim Hauge, a producer from Leith, North Dakota. "And, this study tells me that the checkoff investments to educate consumers and thought leaders about trimming excess fat, choosing lean cuts and eating appropriate servings of meat have worked."

The Meat Board Eating in America Today 11 (EAT II) dietary intake and attitude survey, funded by beef, pork and lamb check offs, found that all segments of the population underconsume foods in the Vegetable, Fruit, Bread and Milk Groups, and overconsume Fats, Oils and Sweets.

Sorting food fact from fiction. The study also shows that perception isn't reality when it comes to eating. On average, most Americans are not eating as well as they think they are.

Adult women and men think that their diets closely reflect the USDA/Health and Human Services Food Guide Pyramid recommendations. Women think they eat more servings from the Vegetable, Fruit, Milk and Meat Groups than they actually do. Men overestimate their consumption of the Fruit, Milk and Meat Groups. Men and women underestimate how much they eat from the Fats, Oils and Sweets category and the Bread Group.

"There is a big difference between what we think we eat and what we actually eat. EAT II shows that most people are confused about the true meaning of a healthy diet and about what it takes to turn nutrition guidelines into reality," said Carol Smeja, Ph.D., vice president of the Nutritional Marketing division for MRCA Information Services, Inc., who conducted the study for the Meat Board. "For example, people recognize that 30 percent of calories from fat is the benchmark, they just don't know how to apply it." EAT II uniquely matches attitudes and behavior to gain a complete picture of the American consumer.

Good news, bad news. Half of American consumers recognize 30 percent as the recommended percentage for calories from fat. However, most are unclear if this applies to a diet or a food, according to EAT II (this rule is meant to apply to the total diet). Only 9 percent properly knew that this statement was false: "No more than 30 percent of calories in a food should come from fat." These dietary misunderstandings have a negative impact on the meat industry

The EAT II report found that, on average, Americans consume about 67 grams of fat per day, which is equal to 37 percent of their total daily calories. The Meat Group (meat, poultry, fish, dry beans, eggs and nuts) contributes 26 grams of fat—only 39 percent of total fat intake. Other fat sources include the Bread Group with 13 grams, the Milk Group with 11 grams, and Fats, Oils and Sweets with 11 grams, according to the EAT II report. The Vegetable Group contributes about 6 grams of fat, primarily added during preparation.

Meat marketing affected. "The meat industry is in a great marketing position," said Eric Hentges, Ph.D., Meat Board director of nutrition research. EAT II has great implications for national nutrition education strategies. The current strategy of food elimination and risk avoidance is not working. We think a better strategy is optimizing our diets by balancing the Pyramid. We see this as a major win-win for all concerns, especially the meat industry."

Hentges contends that balancing the American diet will throw off the "undeserved yoke of elimination" that now plagues the meat industry.

The Meat Board is taking EAT II aggressively into the healthcare professional's realm through strategically selected briefings and presentations. In the short term, an extensive national consumer media campaign has been launched, and includes a New York City event for America's premier health, science and nutrition reporters. The study has already earned positive coverage in the Chicago Tribune and from other newspapers that receive its wire service. Television stations have also aired positive stories.

The National Live Stock and Meat Board is the nation's beef, pork, lamb and veal coalition with the mission to increase consumer demand.

If it were human, they'd test it for steroids.

Massey Ferguson's newest platform tractor — the MF 3120T — delivers 110 horsepower from a turbocharged Perkins 1000 Series engine. But you'd swear it was even bigger. That's because the engine's unique Quadram combustion chamber and Dynatorque Power Curve deliver more torque and higher torque backup on less fuel than conventional 110 hp engines.

And when you add in the superior performance of Massey Ferguson's exclusive Economy PTO, Dynashift transmission, and optional true 4WD, you've got one powerful performer. So much useable power that the competition can't believe it's real.

Stop in and test drive

Calcium Facts

Calcium is best known for building strong bones in growing children and helping adults avoid osteoporosis. In recent years, research shows that this essential mineral may also protect against several types of cancer including colon and breast cancer.

How much is enough?

Unfortunately, most Americans consume far less than the Recommended Dietary Allowance (RDA) for calcium. For those age 11 to 24, the RDA is 1,200 milligrams, and for older adults, 800 milligrams. Many women need even more calcium at certain stages of their lives. Yet nutrition surveys indicate that the typical adult gets only 450-550 milligrams of calcium per day.

Not Just Milk

Most Americans get their calcium from dairy foods, especially milk. And with 300 milligrams of calcium per cup, just three to four cups of skim milk takes care of most adults' daily calcium requirement. But dairy products aren't the only sources of calcium in our diets. There are plenty of lowfat, non-dairy ways to meet your calcium needs.

*Sardines and salmon with bones, are among the richest sources of calcium.

*Tofu and other soybean products can be high in calcium, so read labels.

*Certain veggies like mustard greens, kale, collard greens, parsley and broccoli are good sources of calcium.

Eating too much protein and sodium can increase the amount of calcium lost in your urine, thus increasing your need for this mineral even more. Caffeine and fiber may have smaller effects on calcium loss. One way to increase your absorption of calcium is to get enough vitamin D—the best source in our diets is milk fortified with vitamin D. While it's important to include lots of vegetables in your diet, even an avid vegetable eater would be hard-pressed to get an entire day's calcium from these foods alone. It takes almost two cups of cooked kale or two and a half cups of cooked broccoli to meet the calcium equivalent of one cup of skimmed milk.

Most Americans can meet their daily calcium requirement through a combination of lowfat dairy and non-dairy sources. And since eating a variety of nutritious foods is essential for better health and lower cancer risk, it really does pay to find different ways to get more calcium in your diet.

Believe And Work Hard Is Balzano's Secret To Success

LORETTA GOLDEN

Cambria Co. Correspondent

ASHVILLE (Cambria Co.) —

Even though the 1995 edition of the Pennsylvania Farm Show is over, excitement still runs high in the Balzano household...with good reason. Bobie-Jo, eighteen-year-old daughter of Ted and Mary Balzano, raised "Clem" a 5 1/2 month-old crossbred hog which garnered the title of 1995 Junior Market Swine Grand Champion.

The Balzano clan lives on ten acres located just outside of Ashville. They don't have a large hog operation but it has proven to be a quality one. Along with Bobie-Jo, two brothers, seventeen-year-old Paul, and eleven-year-old Ryan, and a cousin, Shannon McCloskey, raise and show steers and pigs. All four of these 4-H'ers are quite proud of the many banners, ribbons, trophies, and plaques which they have won during the past seven years at various events. Besides Bobie Jo's champion in Harrisburg, she also had the Grand Champion Hog at the Cambria County Fair in September. Ryan had the Grand Champion Junior Carcass barrow which was also Reserve Champion carcass overall at the 1994 Keystone Expo.

The family members have competed against each other at many events and admit to rivalry with each other. A lot of good-natured teasing goes on among them but Paul concedes that the bottom line is that they are all happy when "family wins."

The family is an active one. Ted, a self-employed truck driver, was not raised on a farm but spent a good deal of time on his uncle's farm. This prompted him to begin showing animals and he is glad to see this interest continuing with his family's 4-H activities.

Mary is a stay-at-home mom who likes to keep busy with her country crafts. She admits to not being too involved with the hog projects but Bobie-Jo is quick to point out that her mom, along with a grandmother and a great aunt, are the children's biggest fans.

Paul and Ryan are both students in the Penn Cambria School District. Both boys enjoy outdoor activities and Ryan participates in the school district elementary wrestling program.

Bobie-Jo is a freshman at St. Francis College, Loretto, where she is planning to major in social work. At the present time, her goal is to work with abused children. In addition to being a full-time commuting student, Bobie-Jo works 20-30 hours per week at two women's accessory stores in a local shopping mall. Her duties there range from being a saleswoman to piercing ears. It's quite a hectic schedule but she managed quite well during the first semester. During Farm Show week she was especially grateful to her co-workers for covering all of her hours so that she could be at the show. These co-workers were thrilled when she won but find it hard to believe that this vivacious young woman raises pigs.

4-H has been a part of Bobie-Jo's life for seven years. In the beginning, she had to be coerced into working with pigs because she really didn't like the way they smelled. She credits her great-uncle, Paul "Clem" Niebauer for getting her started. He is the reason why she affectionately chose the name "Clem" for her pig. Uncle Clem has been a special person to all of the Balzanos and Bobie-Jo says this is because "he's always been there for us."

Clem, Ted, and Paul choose the young pigs the kids will raise. Ted feels that Clem can look at a young pig and visualize how it will look at 240 pounds. Clem has been a 4-

H leader for 25 years and was honored for this achievement at the Cambria County leaders' banquet. Ted says that Clem takes a special interest in all of his 4-H'ers and will do anything that he can to help a youngster bring out the best in his or her animal.

Showmanship is Bobie-Jo's favorite part of the competition and it is in this category that she has won second place twice at the State Farm Show. Her many years of dance training, cheerleading, and involvement in student government have given her quite a bit of poise and self-confidence. She said that she knew that "Clem," a Hamp-Duroc cross, weighing in at 257 pounds, with excellent length, width, and low body fat, was a good pig but it was her job to make the judges see that. This was quite an important task as there were about 400 pigs in the competition.

When asked for any trade secrets, Bobie-Jo admitted that she really didn't have any, but if she did she probably wouldn't divulge them anyway. She thoroughly enjoys the competition and agrees with Paul and Shannon that the best part is meeting new people. Ryan pipes in that Bobie-Jo means meeting boyfriends." Ryan likes the shows because he just likes the pigs.

Clem was purchased by Hatfield Quality Meats of Harrisburg. For her efforts, Bobie-Jo will receive $5,000 plus 1/4 of the remaining $12,000 top prize. The remainder of the prize is put into a scholarship fund sponsored by the state 4-H organization. Twelve $1,000 scholarships were given out to qualifying participants at the Farm Show.

Bobie-Jo has thoroughly enjoyed her participation in 4-H and is looking forward to one more year of competition. After this final year, she plans to stay active in 4-H as a leader. When asked for any "words of wisdom" for younger 4-H members she thought for a moment and said, "If you believe in yourself and really work hard for what you want — you'll be able to do it."

'Hook-In' At Heritage House Museum

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — Four rug "hook-ins" with nationally-known rug maker Pat Hornafius will be held at the Winters Heritage House Museum, 43 East High Street, Elizabethtown. The special sessions will be held on the first Saturdays of the following months from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.: February 4, March 4, May 6, and June 3.

A member of the Directory of Traditional Craftsmen, sponsored by "Early American Life", Pat has designed and hooked rugs featured in that publication for eight years. Her hooked rugs have appeared in many national magazines: "Country Living", "Country Home", "Rug Hooking", "Piecwork", and Time-Life Country Crafts.

The gathering will be open to rug hooking students who attended the fall rug hooking classes at the Winters Museum for a special charge. Other experienced rug hookers may join the group for one or more sessions at a cost of $15 per session, Museum members $10 per session. Bring a bag lunch and snacks, if desired.

These sessions will be special times for meeting other rug hookers, sharing ideas, and solving problems. There will be no formal instruction. However, during the first session, dying procedures will be demonstrated. Throughout all the "hook-ins", Pat Hornafius will help you with your technique.

To register for the rug hooking sessions, please call (717) 367-4908.

Master Grower Training Available

WILLIAMSPORT (Lycoming Co.) — If you are interested in gardening, a special Penn State Extension program will start Feb. 14.

The Master Gardener Program offers the opportunity to receive 30 hours of training in many phases of gardening. This in-depth program will be conducted by extension agents from six counties.

Topics and schedule are as follows:

Feb 14: Introductions; Commitment and Follow-up; Basic Botany

Feb 16: Soils Nutrition; Plant Propagation

Feb 21: Turf; Insects

Feb 23: Vegetables; IPM

Feb 28: Pesticide Safety; Diseases

Mar 2: Turf & Ornamentals Seminar

Mar 7: Ornamental; Wrap-up and test

The program will run for six consecutive Tuesdays and Thursdays beginning Feb. 14 and will be held in St. John's United Church of Christ in Lewisburg. The sessions will run from 9 am to 4 p.m. each day.

After the training, participants will be expected to provide 50-60 hours of gardening-related community service work in the local area. The cost for this training includes a $45 registration fee, and a limited amount of expense to participants to complete their volunteer service.

A large, in-depth gardening manual will be included in the registration fee. Meals are brown bag.

If you are interested in this program, call the extension office at (717) 327-2350 and ask for Tom Murphy, or write to Penn State Cooperative Extension, Room 406, Courthouse, 48 West Third St., Williamsport, PA 17701.

Regional Christmas Tree Meeting Set

WHITE HAVEN (Luzerne Co.) — The Ninth Annual Northeast Regional Christmas Tree Growers Meeting and Trade Show will be held Saturday, Feb. 25, here at The Mountain Laurel Resort from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

The meeting is sponsored by Penn State Cooperative Extension and The Pennsylvania Christmas Tree Growers Association.

The topics to be discussed include introduction to soil fertility, 1995 worker protection regulations, Christmas tree diseases, spray adjuvants (spreader/stickers, etc), and putting fertilizers to work for you.

Additionally, there will be a commercial trade show. All exhibitors deal in Christmas tree-related equipment and supplies.

The purpose of this meeting is to educate new and established growers on the most up-to-date cultural and marketing practices available.

Attendance at this meeting qualifies licensed pesticide applicators to receive credits toward recertification. Update training credits will be assigned by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. Changes in the meeting agenda may result in adjustments in the assigned credits.

Meeting enrollment will be limited to the first 300 people who pre-register. All registrations must be postmarked by Feb. 17. For additional information and registration form, please contact your county cooperative extension office.

Bucks 4-H

Bucks County 4-H will be offering a six week 4-H veterinary science program for any youth between 12 and 19 years of age.

The program is an excellent learning opportunity for youth who have an interest in animal science or biology.

The program is taught by a veterinarian and covers normal animal behavior, nutrition, and health. Field trips and hands on activities are also used to help provide an exciting learning opportunity for county youth.

For more information and to register contact the Penn State Cooperative Extension in Bucks County at (215) 345-3283 and ask for Celeste Ball.

Mil-Joy Farms To Be Preserved

WYOMISSING (Berks Co.) — Berks County Commissioner Ernie Miller and his children, owners of Mil-Joy Farms, a patchwork of farms located in Perry, Windsor, and Greenwich townships, are working with the Berks County Conservancy to preserve the family farms with a plan that will eventually protect more than 600 acres of active farmland.

This will be one of the most extensive privately protected farmland preservation projects in Berks County. The project is part of a long range plan that began in 1993 with the protection of the original Miller homestead.

The Miller farmland protection project is significant because the Millers are permanently protecting their farmland by donating the agricultural conservation easements to the Berks County Conservancy. Ernie Miller said he believed in "the importance of donating agricultural conservation easements when it is possible. Donated easements can be an important and effective part of the farmland preservation program.

Donating the agricultural conservation easements is something that I believe in and am fortunate enough to be able to do and it helps by adding to the growing number of permanently protected Berks County farmland acres."

Miller, a devoted public servant and lifelong farmer, was born in the home farmhouse. He and his late wife, Joyce, raised their family on this farm. Joyce, until her recent death, played a major role in managing the farm over the years. She loved the farm, and was very happy to know it would be protected.

Over the years, the family increased their farmland holdings to more than 600 acres that now support a successful dairy and crop operation. Miller's sons, Scott and Todd, manage the farm while Miller carries out his responsibilities as chairman of the Berks County Commissioners.

Miller's comments regarding this project reflect his strong commitment to farming and farmland preservation. He said, "The land has been good to us. Our family has been very fortunate and, by our putting something back into the community, it gives us a chance to do something we believe in. I have been in support of farmland preservation all of my life, and I am glad to have this opportunity to lead by example. I believe it is the right thing to do. It's something I can do that ensures the future of our farm and at the same time helps support the future of the Berks County farming community."

When asked about the future of farming in Berks County, Miller said, "the future will be brighter and agriculture and the ag industry will always be important to Berks County. Saving farmland helps to preserve our agricultural heritage and adds to the quality of life here in Berks."

Extension Honors Volunteers

WARREN (Warren Co.)—The Warren County Cooperative Extension recently held its annual meeting and awards presentation.

Several outstanding volunteers were recognized for their service to the extension office. Gib and Sara Mae Sanford of Youngsville and Richard and Victoria Gilkinson and family were honored.

Gib and Sara Mae Sanford have volunteered and assisted with many events, activities, and programs of Warren County Cooperative Extension. They have hosted five extension educational programs for Christmas Tree Growers in the past five years, and along with their son Paul, they were the hosts of the 1994 Pennsylvania Christmas Tree Growers summer meeting.

Sara Mae was a member of the 4-H Development Council for more than 13 years serving in many committee positions, and she also was a "charter" member of the 4-H/FFA Livestock Sale Committee in Warren County.

Gib was a member of the Extension Agriculture Program Advisory Committee from 1990-1992 and he has assisted the 4-H program in many ways. He has advised 4-H'ers on fund raisers and has plowed out the 4-H Center when events were scheduled.

The Richard and Victoria Gilkinson family of Lander are true volunteers who have fun giving of their time. Rich and Vicki and their five children — Tonya, Wendy, Junior, Tiffany, and Toni — have been international 4-H exchange hosts the past few years.

They have hosted three students from Japan, one from Costa Rica, and one from Germany. The Gilkinsons have made each of the exchange students feel like part of the family. They believe the students have gained an education both socially and culturally while staying on their family's farm.

But the Gilkinsons' volunteer efforts do not stop with the 4-H exchange program. This past summer, Rich allowed his intensive pasture grazing system on his farm to be part of a Penn State research project. Specialists and students studied the effect of invertebrate pests on pasture forages. Their findings are being compared to similar studies done in Pennsylvania as well as New Zealand. Rich has hosted pasture field meetings on his farm also.

The Gilkinson family has been actively involved in local ag in the classroom programs. Wendy, Junior, and Tiffany have participated in the skits, while Rich has volunteered to haul the kids to each of the schools.

The Richard Gilkinson family has volunteered countless hours to many extension programs. Seated from right, Rich, Vickie, Wendy, and, front, Tiffany and Toni enjoy the Volunteer of Distinction Award.

Time-Smart Preparation In The Kitchen

Are you looking for ways to save time in the kitchen that don't spoil the results? Below are listed some ideas that may help:

*Make a quick stock flavoring for stews by combining onion, garlic and carrots in a blender with a little bit of water.

*For oven-baked potatoes in a hurry, boil potatoes for 5 minutes before putting them in the oven or put an aluminum skewer through each potato before baking. Either process reduces baking time by 15-20 minutes.

*To cook dense vegetables (potatoes, carrots, squash) quickly without losing flavor or nutrients, cut 1/2 pound into 1/4 inch matchsticks and place in microwavable bowl or pan. Add 2 tablespoons water cover and microwave on High for 5 to 7 minutes, stirring just once.

*Shave off 10-15 minutes of meal preparation by using boned chicken breast halves.

*Use your freezer and microwave oven to keep cooked pasta and rice readily available. Place 1/2 cup portions in 6 ounce custard cups, cover with clear plastic wrap and freeze. When firm, remove portions from cups, transfer to freezer bags or containers and return to freezer for storage when needed. To reheat, place portions as needed. back into custard cups and microutes. Do not add water. Source: TimeSmart Newsletter Fall 1994

Networking Opportunities Exist For Pork Producers

MALINDA MILLER

National Pork Producers Council

Lower-than-expected cash hog market prices during 1994 forced many pork producers to review and analyze their operations. Not only were short-term concerns important, but producers also pondered future production considerations.

Indeed, all U.S. pork producers were affected in some way by the downturn in market prices. Yet some producers across the country faced the economic situation as groups rather than as individuals. These producers were members of producer networking groups.

What is networking? It is the 1990s term being used in the pork industry to describe business arrangements between producers. In some cases, it also involves arrangements between pork producers and ag suppliers.

"Producer networks are being established throughout the United States," said Earl Dotson, director of producer education for the National Pork Producers Council (NPPC). "The types of networks being formed by producers range from seedstock and feeder pig production, group marketing, purchasing, to information-sharing."

Producers with similar long-term business goals are coming together and forming networks, said University of Missouri ag economist Dennis DiPietre. "Networking in the pork industry is gaining access to those resources which are needed for your success, but are not in your own capability to provide," said DiPietre.

A producer must decide if a given network group fits his particular operation. "Just because it (the network) works by itself or it works for your neighbor doesn't mean it will work in your operation," said Iowa State University Extension livestock economist John Lawrence. Each producer has different needs, different strengths and weaknesses, and different financial abilities, Lawrence said.

Networking is a viable alternative for some, but not all producers, said Lawrence. "And it is not a substitute for good management. It is disciplined management because you have someone else looking over your shoulder," he said.

"I think the role of networking on the horizontal level can help producers networking both their assets, their information, and their abilities into production systems that are going to be competitive and will make sense in the future," said Jan Schuiteman, DVM, president of Pro-Edge, LTD., in Sioux Center, Iowa. Schuiteman has been involved with networks for nearly seven years.

"We actually started networking before networking was popular," he said. Schuiteman works with networks in northwest Iowa that range in membership from four to 15 producers, and are involved with activities such as centralized breeding, group purchasing, coordinated marketing, and knowledge management.

Leadership is a crucial element in a networking group. Lawrence said a group's leader may be one of its members, or it may be someone from outside the group, such as a veterinarian, lender, accountant, or local input supplier. Whomever is selected, the leader is one of the major keys to a group's success.

Linden Olson, a crop and pork producer from Worthington, Minn., suggests having someone outside of the network group serve as the leader if no one within the group has the time or the expertise to lead.

Olson belongs to Green Prairie Coop, a gilt multiplier cooperative in southwest Minnesota, that has about 70 members. All members of the cooperative contribute corn, but not all members are pork producers. The group benefits from adding value to locally produced corn, he said.

The benefits of networking, said Lawrence, include capturing resources that would not otherwise be possible by working alone. Some of the possible benefits and real economies that may be captured by producer networking groups, depending on the type of group, Lawrence said, include obtaining proven technologies, access to information, selling market hogs in semi-load lots, using segregated early weaning, or volume purchasing of inputs.

"We have to realize that some of the benefits these networks are going to receive are not financial," notes Olson. "The benefits may be seeing more of the people in our community working toward a common goal and viewing each other as friends in a venture to keep our communities stronger."

Networks do have limitations. For one, a networking group requires committed members, said Lawrence.

"If there is to be a problem, it will be a people problem. They have to have an incentive to be committed. They won't do it out of the kindness of their hearts. There has to be an economic incentive and things have to be structured for them to do the right thing, not cheat on the system," said to Lawrence.

A networking group also means joint responsibility and liability among members. To form a group, formal business procedures including bylaws and articles of incorporation are necessary.

Scott Jeckel, vice president and manager of Jeckel Pork Farm, Inc., at Delavan, Ill., said one of the challenges network group members have to overcome is opening up their financial records to other members. "We are considerably more humble at sub-$30 hogs than we are at $40-plus. It's probably a pretty good time for people to get together and say, 'Hey, what can we do to lose less money?'"

Jeckel belongs to informational networks in central Illinois. "There is strength in numbers. The more people you've got on your side, probably the better off you are going to be," Jeckel said.

The greatest benefit to Jeckel has been sharing information among members. "What do you do that is better than I do? What do I do that is better than you do? And how can we use those areas to better each of us? If it doesn't win-win on both sides, than it's not going to work," he said.

For more information on producer networking, call Scott Burroughs, director of producer networking, or Earl Dotson, director of producer education at the National Pork Producers Council, (515) 223-2600.

ANSWER — Ida Book wanted a recipe for making grape-nut pudding. Thanks to Bonnie Glick, Reedsville, and others for sending recipes.

Grape Nut Pudding

3½ cups milk
2 boxes instant vanilla pudding mix
9-ounces whipped topping
1½ cups grape nuts cereal
Vanilla, to taste
Beat all together for 5 minutes. Refrigerate.

ANSWER — Marjorie Ludwig, Hegins, wrote that a few years ago a recipe was printed in this column for a compote filling that was hot and put into a hollowed-out pumpkin for serving. Thanks to Dottie Dunkleberger, Carlisle, and others for sending a recipe.

Pumpkin Compote

1 medium-pie-type pumpkin (about 5 pounds with stem)
3 cups diced, unpeeled firm apples
½ cup raisins
½ cup packed brown sugar
¼ teaspoon ground cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
Rinse and dry pumpkin. Set it in microwave oven. Microwave on high for 3 minutes. Turn pumpkin to one side and microwave one minute; turn to the other side and microwave one more minute. With a sharp knife, cut off top as you would for a Jack-o-lantern; remove and set aside. Remove seeds and stringy pulp. To save seeds, remove all stringy pulp and discard. Place seeds in a colander and rinse; set aside until ready to roast by patting dry, and placing in a microwave-safe 8x8-inch square dish. Add 2 tablespoons oil and ½ teaspoon salt. Microwave on high for 5 to 6 minutes stirring after 2 minutes.

Place remaining ingredients in order in pumpkin shell, stir. (There's no need to stir thoroughly. As mixture cooks, sugar will melt into other ingredients, and apples will soften, making it easier to stir later). Set pumpkin on a microwave-safe large tray or platter. Cover top with plastic wrap. Microwave on high for 15 to 23 minutes, rotating pumpkin and stirring apple mixture after 8 minutes and after 14 minutes. When done, apples should be cooked but still firm. Stir mixture, scraping off some of cooked pumpkin from bottom, sides, and top edge. Stir pumpkin in well, with other ingredients. Top with reserved pumpkin cover. Makes 6 to 8 servings. Hint: a grapefruit spoon works well to remove stringy pulp from pumpkin and also for scraping pumpkin from sides while stirring mixture. Delicious as is or served warm over vanilla ice cream.

ANSWER — Mary Ann Whitehair, Terra Alta, W.V. wanted a recipe to make sweetened condensed milk. Thanks to Mary Dengler, Middletown, Ohio; Doris Brenize, Shippensburg; Esther High, East Earl; Vivian Plasterer, Newburg; and others for sending recipes. Doris writes that this is a fantastic way to save money since so many holiday recipes calls for it and it is expensive. Although the recipes vary, the contributors all claim it tastes like the store-purchased variety.

Sweetened Condensed Milk

In blender, combine:
½ cup butter flavored shortening
2 cups granulated sugar
2 cups powdered milk
1 cup boiling water
Blend until smooth. Pour into a quart jar and store in refrigerator. It will thicken as it sets. Makes 3 cups. 1½ cups equals a 15-ounce can.

Sweetened Condensed Milk

1 cup instant nonfat dry milk solids
¾ cup sugar
½ cup boiling water
3 tablespoons melted margarine or butter
Combine all ingredients in a blender container and process until smooth, stirring as necessary to blend in all powder. Store in refrigerator. Makes 1 to 1½ cups or about the same amount as a 14-ounce can.

Sweetened Condensed Milk

Boil together at about 225 degrees until thickened:
1 part sugar
2 parts milk

ANSWER — Nancy Koons, Lebanon, wrote that her Toll House cookies are hard even though she does not over bake them. Thanks to Pam Zebley, Northeast, Md., who suggests she try butter-flavored shortening in place of butter and store with a slice of bread in a seal-tight container. This will make them soft.

CORRECTION (From January 14 Issue) AMI'S DELICIOUS HERSHEY COCOA BROWNIES

¾ cups flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1 cup granulated sugar
6½ tablespoons shortening, melted

6 tablespoons cocoa
½ cup peanut butter chips
1 teaspoon vanilla
Combine flour, baking powder, and salt in a large bowl. Combine eggs and sugar and cream thoroughly. Add shortening, cocoa, and flour. Stir well. Add peanut butter chips and vanilla. Turn into a 9x13-inch greased pan. Bake 350 degrees for 25 minutes.

Frosting

3 tablespoons butter, softened
3 tablespoons cocoa
1 tablespoon light corn syrup
¼ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup confectioners' sugar
2 tablespoons milk
Edible glitter
Beat together butter, cocoa, corn syrup, vanilla, confectioners' sugar, and milk. Sprinkle edible glitter over frosting.

You ask You answer

This column is for readers who have questions but don't know whom to ask for the answers.

"You Ask — You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask — You Answer, Lou Ann Good, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522.

QUESTION — Vonnie Davis, Manchester, would like information on how to make pine cone fireplace starters that burn different colors.

Peanut Butter Frosting (for decoration)

½ cup peanut butter
1 pound confectioners' sugar
7-8 tablespoon milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
Blend one third and peanut butter. Alternately add remaining sugar and milk. Add vanilla. Run frosting through flower design in cookie press. Let harden, top with Hershey mini chips.

How To Make The Most Of Your MaxEmerge 2® Planter

Check out these new attachments that let you customize a versatile MaxEmerge 2 Planter to your exact conditions.

25-Flute Coulter — Packed soil and high residue are no match for this new narrow coulter. Produces less chunking than other blades. Tills a narrow strip of soil for improved seed placement and germination.

Walking Gauge Wheels — Now get consistent depth control in rough ground and heavy residue. Each gauge wheel moves independently over rocks, dirt clods, and other obstructions.

Heavy-Duty Row Markers — Ease the strain and fatigue of planting in no-till with new, rugged, heavy-duty markers. They mark a high-visibility trail for more accurate row alignments. Feature breakaway protection.

No matter what conditions you have, count on MaxEmerge 2 Planters and hundreds of attachments for customized planter performance. Ask your John Deere dealer about them today.

KEEP THE HIGH-YIELD ACCURACY YOU'VE COME TO EXPECT

Want accurate seed placement and yield-boosting consistency? Take advantage of these great values on John Deere planter parts and attachments.

Be sure you're opening the smooth, angled trench you need for close seed-to-soil contact and great stands. Regular $25.83, new John Deere Tru-Vee™ openers are now

QUESTION — Evelyn Michaels, Beaver, asks if anyone remembers Ole Old, a type of liniment made by Dr. Peter Farhney and Sons Company in N.Y. City. It contained camphor, oil of cloves, sassafras, and turpentine. The Swedish/Finnish community in Tioga County used it widely from the 1930s to the 1960s. Evelyn has asked telephone operators in the calling areas 212, 718, 917, and 914, for telephone listings for the company but no listing exists in those areas. Does anyone know a supplier?

ANSWER — Ray Leiphart, Felton, would like a recipe for making homemade soap that uses lye. Thanks to Mrs. David Early, Annville; Lucille Werley, Hamburg; Doris Brenize, Shippensburg; Leora Petet, and others for sending directions.

Soap

- 1 can lye
- ½ cup Clorox
- ¾ cup Borax
- 3 quarts cold water minus 5 tablespoons
- 9 cups lard

Dissolve lye in water, using enamel pan. Stir. Add Clorox and Borax. Pour in melted lard and stir well. Set aside and stir every hour that day. Cut when hard.

Soap Making

Line the molds with plastic before starting; there will be no time later.

Lye Solution:

Use enamelware or stainless steel bowl, use a stainless steel spoon for mixing.

Dissolve 1 can lye in one quart cold water. The mixture gets very hot, be very careful to avoid splashes on the skin. Let the mixture stand until cold.

Grease:

Heat 5½ pounds grease until lukewarm. Use a 10-quart enamelware or stainless bowl to combine the grease and the lye mixture. Stir constantly while adding the lye water.

Mix these ingredients:

- 2 tablespoons powdered borax
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- ½ cup water
- ¼ cup ammonia
- 1 teaspoon salt

Add the mixture to the lye and grease.

Stir together for about 10 to 20 minutes until emulsion is formed. In warm weather, the container may be lowered into cold water to help the mixture thicken. When the mixture is the consistency of pea soup, it is ready to pour. Pour into prepared molds and check in about 12 hours, then cut into cakes. The soap is ready to use in 2 to 3 weeks, but will last longer if allowed to dry longer.

ANSWER — Mary Ann Whitehair, Terra Alta, W.V., wanted a recipe for making window cleaner. Thanks to Mary Jane Heidleburgh, Stewartstown; Doris Horton; Livina Fisher, Mifflin; Naomi Blank, Kinzers; Lisa Sparr, Upper Falls, Md.; Vivian Plasterer, Newburg; Wilson Horst, Lyons, N.Y.; Irene Wison, Narvon; Teresa Wenger, and many others for sending directions. One simple method is to combine equal parts of white vinegar and water.

Window Cleaner

- 2 ounces rubbing alcohol
- 2 ounces ammonia
- 12 ounces water
- Blue food coloring, optional

Homemade Window Cleaner

- ½ cup sudsy ammonia
- 1 pint 70% isopropyl alcohol
- 1 teaspoon dish detergent (preferably without skin care lotion in it)

Combine above ingredients and add enough water to make one gallon. Irene Wison said this recipe appeared in "Consumer Report" magazine and really works.

Window Cleaner

- ½ cup ammonia
  - ½ cup vinegar
  - 1 quart warm water
- Combine and put into spray bottle. "Works great without leaving film and streaks."

ANSWER — Norman Babcock, Friendsville, wanted to know where to buy a French-style string bean cutter. Thanks to Frances Homa, Alpha, N.J.; Arlene Sauder, Lititz; Albert Green, Orwigsburg; Doris Becker, East Petersburg; Naomi Blank, Kinzers; Dave Dennis, Fredericksburg; and others for sending sources. Order through Burpee Garden Book, 1-800-888-1447. Or, Gurney's Seed and Nursery Co., 110 Capital, Dept. 85-3846, Yankton, S.D. 57079. Or purchase at the Country Housewares Store, 601 Musser School Rd., Leola, PA 17540.

ANSWER — Stephen M. Tolbert, 751 Woodside Dr., Oxford, PA 19363 (717) 529-6018 wanted to obtain information on entering the poultry industry, particularly in operating broiler houses. He is looking for a starting point — education, financing, profitability, etc. Contact Jim Collura, 58 Penncroft Dr. N., Holtwood, PA 17532 (717) 284-5249.

Bobcat 7753 Long-Wheelbase Skid-Steer Loader

It's What's Inside That Counts!

Swingout Tailgate - one side engine and engine components service. Easy access to oil cooler and radiator (which are well protected). No need to raise lift arms.

Operator Friendly. You'll find the 7753 offers easy operator entry/exit into a roomy cab.

Dependable drive chains that NEVER need adjusting. The "bow tie" design uses prestressed, heavy-duty drive chains in two short continuous loops per side. That means long-life in the most rugged use and NO periodic, time-consuming drive chain adjustments.

Easy-to-use foot pedals control loader hydraulic functions, while two steering levers allow precise maneuverability.

Durable axles Bobcat 7753 axles are solidly built then specially heat treated. Axle Bearings NEVER need greasing because a sealed oil bath keeps them lubricated. New axle hub design protects axle seal from damage from wire or twine. Hub is easily removed if service is required.

Experience America's Best.

Melroe company has over 30 years of skid-steer loader experience - longer than anyone else. That's one of the reasons Fortune Magazine has twice recognized the Bobcat loader as one of the 100 products "America Builds Best."

Reliable Components.

Other than a few daily checks and fills, you can rely on the PERFORMANCE of the 7753 Bobcat. It has been designed and built with durability and low maintenance in mind.

Great Serviceability!

The Bobcat 7753 has been designed to be serviced quickly. For example, there's single-side access to the transversely-mounted engine, a lift-out oil cooler for easy cleaning and a tip-up cab to expose hydraulic and hydrostatic components. For repairs, the exclusive BOSS® System can help quickly diagnose system problems. These features, along with a factory-trained service technicians and "top-shelf" parts availability, mean your loader can be back on the job in no time.

TOTAL HAND CONTROL! Dealer-Installed Option!

- Easy Wrist-Action Control.
- Push-Button Auxiliary Hydraulics For Total Hand Control. (Available only on 50 Series loaders. 40 Series loaders utilize foot pedal to activate auxiliary hydraulics.)
- Easy-Grip Handle.

Holstein Friends: The Smith-Mead herd is truly made up of cattle with strength and udders that will please you when you see them. In twenty-five years of merchandising cattle, never have I had the opportunity to sell 63 head of cattle in one sale with over a 1000 fat. Should you need cows or heifers of any age, please come look—you won't be disappointed. The heifers are very pleasing in all groups.

Herd has not been scored for 2 years - many will move up in classification

CEILING INLETS

Each unit provides 1.2 square feet of intake area and is designed to operate under negative pressure. Inlets are constructed of fiberglass composite and Styrofoam. Units measure 16.5" square and mount directly into the ceiling and project into the attic. An insulation-stop is provided. Stainless steel counter weights and a manual lock adjustment make it unsurpassed in performance.

PureFire

THE PURAFIRE

Our name says it all

The PuraFire heater provides a consistent, clean-burning and fuel-efficient source of warmth for all types of poultry and swine houses. With near 100% efficiency (CO emissions of 5 parts per million), the thermostatically operated PuraFire uses less energy to yield greater BTUs for your money. Choose from two PuraFire models: the C80M - variable output (40,000 or 80,000 BTUH) and the C225-225,000 BTUH unit. Each is LP or natural gas compatible and can be mounted inside or outside your confinement house.

Efficient, powerful and versatile agricultural heaters yield greater BTU's for your money.

Hi-Lo Livestock Production Thermometers. This quality thermometer is one of the most economical, accurate instruments on the market. A must for anyone in livestock production or greenhouse operations — wherever temperature control is important. It shows at a glance the lowest and highest temperatures over a period of time plus the present temperature. Available in centigrade/fahrenheit or fahrenheit only. It is easy to use with a push button reset.

Tamy Hog Cream is a waterless hand cleaner that removes those awful farm odors, fish odors, onion odors, grease, and grime from hands. Leaves hands smelling good, feeling fresh and clean. Just simply apply a small amount to hands and rub well until it dissolves and suspends the grease and grime, rinse with water and rub clean. Comes in a pint size squeeze bottle. Shampoo is also available.

Sensaphone® 1100

Advanced Desktop Monitoring System

Environmental/Process monitoring over telephone lines with full programming capabilities

- The versatile Model 1100 is designed for programming flexibility
- Variable power failure recognition and "listen-in" tone, with alarm disable, security code access, remote sensing, and other programming features
- Monitors power, temperature, and other important environmental conditions to protect computers, equipment, and processes
- Automatically contacts you at up to 4 locations if unsafe conditions occur
- Allows you to contact your system using any telephone, to receive status reports and listen-in to on-site sounds
- Helps you detect problems before they turn into disasters

New you can protect your equipment and processes even when you can't be there — The Sensaphone 1100 monitors your computer room, equipment centers, offices, or any unattended facility to detect power failures, temperature extremes, intrusions, water incursions, sounds such as smoke and burglar alarms, and other conditions of your choice. Auxiliary temperature input lets you monitor isolated processes such as freezers and refrigerators, while the unit remains in a separate room.

Alerts you immediately if problems arise — The Sensaphone 1100 automatically contacts you by phone, at up to four different phone numbers, to alert you of unsafe conditions. The system communicates in voice-synthesized English, and even lets you "listen-in" to actual on-site sounds.

CONDITIONS MONITORED:

- Temperature
- Humidity
- Electricity
- Water Incursion
- Smoke
- Sound
- Windows & Doors
- ...and more!

ALERT

UP TO 4 DIAL-OUT NUMBERS:
If unsafe conditions occur, the Sensaphone 1100 automatically dials up to four numbers in sequence to deliver you the problem. Numbers may be up to 16 digits each, with your choice of pulse or tone dial-out.

COMMUNICATES OVER STANDARD PHONE LINES:
Call-in for periodic status checks on all monitored conditions, using any telephone. The Sensaphone communicates in simple voice-synthesized English.

DUST/MIST Respirator

with double strap

WHY TAKE CHANCES:

Help protect yourself against breathing in harmful odors and feed and grain dust found in hog facilities. The dust/mist respirator features a nose cushion and a contoured nose clip for a more reliable seal for greater protection. It includes a collapse-resistant shell that is reliable in hot humid conditions. The dust/mist respirator is NIOSH/NSHA approved for dust and mists. The mask is a soft lightweight construction and will easily fit around eye glasses. Double strap ensures better fit for more protection.

Save Money With Custom Precoolers

NAPERVILLE, Ill. — Dairy producers can cut operating costs with unique, individually-sized precooling equipment. Every Surge® Kool Way Chiller™, available from Surge dealers, is custom-sized for each dairy's milk flow rate using exclusive, advanced computer technology.

"By eliminating the 'one-size-fits-all' philosophy for precooling equipment, dairy producers save money and can earn bonuses for quality, precooled milk," said Kevin Kastenschmidt, cooling systems product manager at Babson Bros. Co.

The Surge Kool Way Chillers are refrigeration units designed to cool milk in conjunction with a plate cooler. The Chiller, matched with a Surge Plate Cooler, cools a solution of water and USP propylene glycol, which is then pumped through the plate cooler to cool the milk. Using Chiller barrels in combination with a glycol circulation pump, the Chiller can maximize the BTUs-per-hour out of the compressor, ultimately reducing horsepower usage by 20 to 30 percent. An electrical control center offers staged temperature controls to operate the compressors and self-diagnostics with trouble-shooting indicator lights.

Surge Kool Way Chillers are available in three sizes: The Semi-Hermetic Packaged Chiller, ranging from 10 to 60 horsepower with stainless cabinet and digital electronic controls; the Hermetic Packaged Chiller, ranging from 5 to 24 horsepower with galvanized cabinet and mechanical controls; and the cabinet model for use with existing condensing units.

Tractors Combine Compact Size With Impressive Power

TORRANCE, Calif. — Ranging from 17 to 24 PTO horsepower, Kubota Tractor Corporation's new B-Series compact tractor models (B1700/B2100/B2400) are well-suited to a variety of landscaping, turf, small farm, and residential applications.

The compact but powerful B-Series models feature three-cylinder, 2600 rpm E-TVCS (Emission Three Vortex Combustion System) diesel engines delivering high output, powerful low-speed torque and a high torque rise. The E-TVCS engine also delivers low noise (84 dbA) and incorporates the technology needed to meet strict emissions standards.

Hydrostatic Transmission is available on all of the new B-Series tractors. Other special safety and performance features on the B-Series include ROPS, retractable seat belt, color-coded, ultra-convenient controls, a newly designed instrument panel, large capacity fuel tank, integral power

Wil-Rich Announces Safety Program

WAHPETON, N.D. — Wil-Rich, a farm equipment manufacturer announces a wing fold safety program. The free safety package is available to any customer who owns Wil-Rich vertical fold (90°) field cultivators, air seeders, chisel plows, and/or disk cultivators.

According to John Kehrwald, the company's general manager, some customers during farming operations improperly remove the implement wing lock pin, causing the wing to fall, resulting in serious injury. This situation is caused by

'Value' Compact Tractor From Massey Ferguson

MARTINDALE (Lancaster Co.) — Massey Ferguson's new MF® 1120 compact tractor is designed for buyers looking for a durable, high-performance four-wheel-drive tractor that is affordable within today's tight budgets.

"The 'value-priced' 16 horsepower MF 1120 is built to high standards of comfort, convenience and versatility," said Daniel Martin of Lawn Care of PA in Martindale, "and is available with ag or turf tires, making it ideally suited for light utility work around the farmstead and for estate mowing."

The MF 1120 is powered with a 16 horsepower, naturally aspirated 3 cylinder diesel engine with indirect fuel injection for quieter operation, reduced exhaust emissions, and improved fuel economy. A belt-driven water pump provides positive circulation of the engine coolant for consistent operating temperatures, longer engine life, and reduced operating costs.

The MF 1120 is available with either a hydrostatic or standard gear transmission. The hydrostatic transmission provides infinite speed selection from 0 to 9.5 MPH without clutching, and is ideal for jobs requiring frequent direction changes. Two speed ranges tailor the torque load to the power train, reducing stress on components and extending life.

The 6 x 2 standard gear transmission uses a durable, proven design with three main gears and two range selections. Available speeds from 0.7 to 8.8 MPH give the operator the ability to select the right speed for the job. A direct, inline shift between first and reverse makes changing direction easy and increases productivity.

Special Device Tows Truck Tractors

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — A compact fifth-wheel-to-fifth-wheel coupling device which converts a tractor into a rescue vehicle for another tractor in a matter of minutes reportedly can save fleets substantial amounts on outside towing services, according to Country Boy Mfg., Lebanon, Pa.

The manufacturer said this unit is a good, safe, easy way for a fleet to temporarily convert a working tractor into a retrieval unit with a one-man hookup.

Between work assignments, the 1,500 lb. unit can be retracted to a 99-inch height and stored. The unit rests on three adjustable steel storage legs.

When needed for service, the tow driver backs the rear of his tractor beneath it, and locks his fifth wheel onto the unit's forward king-pin. At this point, the support legs can be unbolted, since the unit's weight is supported by the tractor.

The driver then starts another

10-minute procedure for hookup. He positions his rescue tractor so it is back-to-back with the disabled tractor. Then the rescue driver lines up on the disabled vehicle's fifth wheel and backs his rescue unit up, inserting the unit's rear kingpin into the disabled vehicle's fifth wheel jaws. After assuring a solid hookup, the driver completes the final phases of the vehicle-to-vehicle hookup, chaining the unit to the disabled tractor's frame rails.

The manufacturer notes that the towed tractor is not pulled through its fifth wheel, but rather is towed by the 18,000-pound tensile strength chains that bind its arms to the disabled vehicle's frame rails.

Two other lengths of chain should also be looped around the axles and rails of the towed vehicle, to prevent its suspension from extending as the vehicle is lifted for towing, according to the manufacturer.

After installing a safety-light bar on the nose of the towed vehicle and completing seven-wire electrical connections, the hookup is nearly complete. The towed tractor's steering wheel is lashed in straight-ahead position and the final adjustments made. Then, the disabled vehicle can be towed.

He says the retrieval device is capable of handling 10,000 pound weights but will not have to hoist more than 7,000 pound, leaving a "considerable safety margin."

ProGenetics To Sweden For European Stock

ELIZABETHTOWN, (Lancaster Co.) — In an effort to expand ProGenetics purebred lines, Vice President of Sales & Marketing Dr. Michael Miller, geneticist, traveled to Sweden late June to select Swedish boars for use in the ProGenetics Artificial Insemination (AI) Center.

Miller traveled with Harold Hodson, president of SGI (an Iowa boar stud company which specializes in marketing boar semen and artificial insemination products and equipment), and visited several Hampshire, Landrace, Duroc, and Large White farms. As a result, ProGenetics, in cooperation with SGI, jointly purchased eight Swedish Landrace and Large White boars which are being housed at SGI's boar station.

"Sweden is known for some of the leanest, most highly productive pigs in the world," Miller said. "Therefore, we are using Swedish Landrace and Large White lines to produce highly prolific, exceptional brood females which are lean with good muscle development."

Mated to their Danish and Canadian cousins, "these females," Dr. Miller said, "will produce market hogs designed for the packing industry of today. Large-framed, these animals will maintain carcass leanness and exceptional meat quality."

Meanwhile, to be imported into the United States, the Swedish boars underwent stringent quarantine procedures and blood work. Having spent 60 days at the independent Swedish farms, the boars were then air-freighted to JFK Airport, where they remained for an additional 30 days.

In October 1994, these boars were placed in the A.I. stud and now are being utilized at the ProGenetics nucleus.

SUPREME CALF HUTCH

J&D MOLDED HIGH DENSITY-POLYETHYLENE
CALF HUTCH

J&D Calf Hutches will keep calves drier in the winter, they will stay warmer and start eating at an earlier age. During the warm summer months you can use the standard, adjustable air vent to control the climate in the Calf Hutch. Your calves will be healthier and will grow faster. You may add an out door fence area to the hut.

Calf Hutch
comes with Pail holder, 2 pails & bottle holder!

NEW BELT FEEDERS & CONVEYORS

Big Capacity Delivery...
With All The Advantages Of Dependable, Efficient, Low Profile
Direct Drive Design!

That's what farmers really appreciate about the new Jamesway family of Direct X Press Feeders and Conveyors. All models feature a dependable and efficient heavy duty industrial drive, with an enclosed oil bath and standard 1/2 or 3 HP C faced motors. Our direct drive design eliminates pulleys, jackshafts, sprockets, chains, V belts and shields. The low profile motor and drive can be mounted on either side for added installation versatility.

The Direct X Press family includes:
• DXF 1400 - Single or Divided Lot 14' Wide Belt Feeder 180' Maximum Length
• DXF 1800 - 18' Wide Belt Feeder 180' Maximum Length
• DXF 2400 - 24' Wide Belt Feeder 124' Maximum Length

"X" Sides Are Standard
All Direct X Press System models feature heavy 16-gauge weather resistant galvanized steel sides in 2 1/2' 5' and 10' sections. We call them "X" sides because they are "X-tra" strong and will span 20' between supports. And they are built to last and will stay looking good "X-tra" long!

Do It Your Way!
Match your feeding layout and requirements with reversible elevating conveyors, inclines and declines without sacrificing capacity, speed and uniform delivery. All inclines and declines are infinitely adjustable up to 30 degrees elevation for textured belt and up to 15 degrees elevation for smooth belt.

Tough 1/8" thick polyester belt with PVC covering and dependable stainless steel industrial splice is a year round performer and flexes in sub-zero weather. Choice of smooth or textured belt for conveyors in 14', 18' and 24' widths. Belt speed is 230 feet per minute.

"IT IS TIME TO ONCE AGAIN GET SERIOUS ABOUT STORING YOUR VALUABLE FEEDS!!!"

The recent "innovations" and temporary methods of storing your grains and forages are just not protecting your feeds like they should, nor are they really efficient.

Research and practical experience has shown that "the lower silo has never been equalled in its ability to protect your forage quality." And remember... on most dairy farms, forage quality is the single most important factor affecting profit.

Contact us soon to be sure you get on our schedule to have your poured concrete tower silo constructed in time!

The Best of the Best

The Wheeling 2 oz. Seal of Quality coating represents the best of the best in the Wheeling Corrugating line of premium galvanized roofing and siding. Every panel that carries the 2 ounce coating assures you are getting the toughest, the most durable, the most corrosion resistant galvanized sheet available in today's marketplace.

Genuine Old-Time Quality
Every Wheeling 2 oz. sheet is manufactured from heavy gauge steel topped with an extra thick zinc coating and formed into profiles that contribute strength and good looks. Build with a Wheeling 2 oz. sheet and you'll be working with the kind of durability and dependability that's been a standard in the industry for almost 100 years.

The Proof is in the Process
The performance behind the Wheeling 2 oz. Seal of Quality is possible because of Wheeling's patented Cook Norteman manufacturing process. This technology allows a more consistent quality product and a more uniform coating with unsurpassed zinc adhesion. The process takes more handling and more time but the end result is a super premium panel that has its own limited 20 year performance warranty.

Dimensions and Specifications
If your building plans call for roofing and siding materials with exceptional corrosion resistance, minimum upkeep and old time toughness, you'll want to check the specs of Wheeling 2 oz. Seal of Quality galvanized.

Side with Alumax ALU-TUFF Steel

When you put up a building, you expect it to be attractive and to last. A building constructed with ALU-TUFF will meet those expectations. That's because ALU-TUFF is made using top-quality materials, super-tough protective coatings, and a unique rib design that's both functional and attractive.

Years from now when other buildings are starting to show their age, your building will still look good.

• A STRONG PROFILE

High 3/4-inch ribs on nine-inch centers give ALU-TUFF exceptionally high spanning properties for its weight and thickness, while stiffening ribs in flat areas prevent rippling.

• MADE TO LAST

To keep Alu-Tuff working hard and looking good for years to come, we protect it with an oven-cured system of four different coatings.

• A GREAT LOOKING PANEL

You don't have to sacrifice good looks to get a tough steel panel.

• MORE QUALITY FEATURES

Each ALU-TUFF sheet is 38 inches wide to provide 36-inch coverage. That's wide enough to minimize the number of side laps, yet narrow enough to be easy to handle.

New in 1994

You may pay less for some dairy farm equipment... but it can cost you more!

Equipment cost is not the only cost of cooling milk.

In the long run, total operating costs of a Mueller milk-cooling system are generally substantially less than those of "bargain-brand" milk-cooling equipment.

|-------------------------------------------------------------------|----------|-------------|
| Cost of equipment                                                 | $41,000 | $28,000    |
| Cost of electricity @ .08 kW for 12,000 lbs milk/day for 10 years | $17,550 | $22,850    |
| Total operating cost for ten years                                | $58,550 | $50,850    |
| Savings                                                           | $7,700  |             |

King of The Hill

You know the game. The one where you stand on top of something and everyone else tries to knock you off and take their turn at being King. The cattle business is no different. Everyone claims that their breed is "the best" for the beef industry and has tried to knock Simmental "off the hill". However, for the third year in a row, the Breed Comparison Chart published by USDA MARC* has shown that Simmental is the dominant breed for growth and maternal strength. We ask you to study the Breed Comparison Chart and find a breed that combines growth and maternal strength better than Simmental. If you can't, then we ask you to try the second most populous breed of cattle in the world and realize why Simmental truly is "King Of The Hill".

Breed Comparison Chart Adjusted to a 1992 Base.

REPLACING HOG FLOORING? CONSIDERING NEW CONSTRUCTION?

☒ CHECK OUT Polygrate™

Heavy Duty Hog Flooring

Time Tested and Proven

This style of POLYGRATE was first introduced in 1981. Over the years Farcox has continued to refine this product. POLYGRATE is one of only a few "World Class" floors that has stood this test of time.

Outstanding Traction

POLYGRATE'S unique "high-low" finger design provides outstanding traction for pigs of all sizes, while enhancing safety and comfort. ♦ POLYGRATE'S rounded corners minimize injuries. The edges are beveled providing a smoother, safer surface that promotes comfort, too.

What Does This All Add Up To?

- ♦ More piglets survive until weaning
- ♦ Less splay/spraddle leg problems
- ♦ Heavier piglets at weaning
- ♦ Better conditioned sows at weaning

Agriculture Moves on EBY Bodies

M.H. Eby custom-builds aluminum truck bodies for the agri-transportation market. Nobody offers more sizes and options in:

- LIVESTOCK BODIES - Lengths to 32', choice of heights and widths.
- GRAIN BODIES - Lengths to 24'; landscape and general purpose dumps to 12'.
- FLATBED BODIES - Lengths to 32', choice of 5 widths.

For greater payload capacity, Eby's aluminum design is equal in strength to steel and up to 40% lighter. Our corrosion-resistant components never need painting. That means minimum maintenance, improved appearance and higher resale value.

Eby products have superior standard features. And we offer custom options for virtually any application. Agriculture is your business- building bodies to haul it is ours.

GEORGE F. W. HAENLEIN
Extension Dairy Specialist
University of Delaware

NEWARK, Del. — From the University of Delaware and the Cooperative Extension Service, dairy producers are being told constantly, "You better change or you won't be in business."

Change is natural, just as winter follows autumn and autumn follows summer. Or, as the good book says, there is a time to sow and a time to harvest.

Right now, it's the time for cold feet and frosty ears. So why should we look forward to change, or to cold feet and frozen ears?

Maybe it's a reminder that we'd better prepare—find our furlined boots, search out our ear muffs, and, if we wait long enough, spring will come again.

The analogy to boots and muffs in the dairy business is preparing for stored feeding with enough silage and hay to last until spring. And with rough marketing times ahead, we'd better have new strategies for producing what the new politics and the new consumer demands.

As for the hay and silage, it's already the stored feed season; the only adjustment can be to get rid of some unprofitable cows, heifers and calves.

And on the marketing strategy side, we haven't even started to think about alternatives.

Some of our colleagues in Europe, however, are already in high gear with new market strategies. Maybe it's because they are under greater pressure from GATT and the new politics of the European Union than we in the United States are.

One market strategy for dairying is "Tourism and Farming—They Need Each Other."

The latest annual calendar book of the Austrian Tyrol Farmers Association is full of articles describing progress on how to preserve farmland and farming in the Alps.

It seems that alpine hotels, especially those with winter sports and ski lifts, have a strong interest in keeping farmers farming. In particular, they like to see cows, heifers, sheep and goats grazing the slopes and meadows. It's an attractive sight to hiking tourists and provides the openness from bush and tree encroachment that skiers enjoy.

Hotels have a strong voice in the Austrian legislature, a fact that has resulted in many good acts to support and encourage farmers to stay in farming.

The acts are not, for the most part, farmland zoning and farming rights laws as they are here in the United States. They are more often laws to reduce taxes on property and inheritance as well as laws to provide every farmer with affordable health insurance, life insurance and pensions.

There are also laws to promote direct marketing of farm products, bed-and-breakfast lodging on the farm, royalty incomes from ski lifts and extension workers to help with direct marketing.

Making butter, cheese, yogurt, bread, sausage, meats, vegetables, fruit for farm-fresh retail sales seems to have greater demand than supply, which provides welcome cash income to farmers.

Why don't we apply some of these advances to our area? Lancaster County, seems to have mastered many of these ideas, most evident in the tourism related to Amish farming, but we are far from having bed-and-breakfasts or vacations on farms as a side income to strengthen farm preservation.

And what about Delaware? Any strategy to bring tourism and farming together to help each other seems to be lacking totally. Rather, fighting what is inevitable in our future seems more typical.

A farm in Wisconsin on a major highway outside of Madison offers an "Old McDonald Had A Farm" petting farmyard for tourists. This enterprise provides a tidy side income for the farm.

Outside of Heidelberg, Germany, my cousin built a walk-in animal garden populated with deer and wild boars in a forest. Tourists love to stop to feed the pigs and piglets. This also has generated a good little side income.

One of the most popular things that our College of Agriculture has ever done is the annual open house for school children at the college farm for one month. Annually, more than 7,000 youngsters have visited, heard stories about and petted our cows, calves, sheep, goats, pigs, horses and donkeys. Our traveling farm animal program to schools in the area is equally successful.

Tourists are mostly non-farm people anymore and they enjoy seeing attractive farms, staying there over night and eating farm-fresh foods. One reason is that it's a bit nostalgic, but in Europe it is also much cheaper than a formal hotel and restaurant. This is an exciting dormant opportunity for our farm families and a most powerful way to preserve farmland here as the activity has in Europe.

Another marketing strategy for dairying is to tailor-make more dairy products to the interests of today's consumers. In a subtle way, we have done this during the last 40 years.

I remember in the 1950s Delaware's New Castle County was Guernsey country with a few Jerseys, Ayrshires and Milking Shorthorn mixed in.

Guernseys produced "golden" rich milk, but consumers began to want leaner, low fat milk, which the Holsteins produced to the everlasting joking and teasing, especially by the Jersey breeders.

But soon Holsteins became the predominant dairy breed, and the Guernseys, Ayrshire and Jerseys disappeared from the county and from many other areas in the United States.

Another marketing strategy that has met with success is the emphasis on protein, or solids content, in milk and rewarding farmers for it instead of for fat contents. Yet this is just the beginning in tailoring dairy products for the needs of consumers.

This marketing is just as essential for the future preservation of dairy farming as is grazing to preserve the beauty of the green space around urban and suburban developments.

The Institute of Dairy Research at the University of Kiel in Germany has done some interesting work over the years to find new ways of tailoring dairy products. Three recent research project publications have dealt with the factors that influence variation in contents of cholesterol, fat types and protein types in milk.

These are topics of considerable interest to today's consumer and, therefore, highly significant to the future of dairying.

Cow's milk has between 10 to 15 milligram cholesterol per 100 milliliter milk, goat's milk slightly less at around 12 milligram and human milk more between 15 to 25 milligram. About 85 percent of all cholesterol is in the fat portion of milk. From 5,500 samples, it was determined that different cows had different milk cholesterol contents, which indicates inheritance and the possibility of changes through selection.

Stage of lactation, age of cow, season and feeding method also influenced milk cholesterol contents. Feeding for softer milk fat and butter resulted in lower milk cholesterol contents.

The type of fat in milk usually receives attention only when it comes to soft or hard butter, and this trait goes unnoticed by today's consumer in his/her stiff-cold refrigerated butter.

These differences can be influenced greatly by feeding. Pasture makes softer butter, meaning more oil and shorter chain fatty acids, which is of great interest to today's diet-conscious consumer; hay and corn silage make harder butter, but fat addition from plant oilmeals can produce soft butter.

Research on influencing protein types in milk by genetic selection has been my long-standing research interest and has been confirmed by recent exciting Canadian research.

Research at Penn State investigates why temperature and other air quality factors are not uniform within laying hen production houses.

Depending on the building design and the environmental control system, air flow, airborne particles, and temperature that one group of birds experiences can be greatly different than that experienced by birds in a different region of the house.

Environmental conditions affect production, feed intake, behavior, and health. Nonuniformity of environmental conditions prevents the entire flock from producing to its genetic potential and therefore reduces the farm's profit potential.

In an effort to understand more about temperature uniformity in laying hen production buildings, a case study was conducted. The production buildings on the same farm complex with similar bird densities, bird ages, and environmental control management were monitored hourly from May 199 until February 1994. Each house contained 48 temperature sensors.

The Turbo Positive™ house (Figure 1) is a positive pressure system with slotted ceiling inlets and fans in the attic space, and is 21 meters x 206 meters (70 feet x 675 feet). The Turbo Negative™ house (Figure 2) is a negative pressure system with slotted ceiling inlets and fans in the pit, and is also 21 meters x 206 meters (70 feet x 675 feet). The perimeter baffle house (Figure 3) is a negative pressure system with perimeter baffles and fans located in the pit, and is 17 meters x 146 meters (56 feet x 480 feet).

Ventilation rates are basically dependent upon target inside temperature, bird density, and outside air temperature. In the case study, 11 outside temperature ranges were investigated from less than -10 C. (14 F.) to greater than 35 C. (95 F.). Temperature ranges were in increments of 5 C. between -10 C. and 35 C. (-10 to -5, -5 to 0, ... 30 to 35). The standard deviation of temperature within the building for each outside temperature range was calculated.

During cold weather, the greatest stratification of temperature occurs in buildings because less ventilation is needed. This is evident in Figure 4 which shows the standard deviation of temperature in each building for each outside temperature range.

Poultry Pointers

The Turbo Positive™ house had the lowest variability of temperature during warm and hot outside temperature ranges. The perimeter baffle system had the highest standard deviation of house temperature for nearly all outside temperature ranges. The perimeter baffle house also exhibited a trend in temperature stratification during cold weather conditions.

As illustrated in Figure 5, less fresh air may be getting to the center of the building than the sides. Figure 5 shows average temperatures across the width of the building with respect to mean house temperature (a zero value on this graph indicates that the average temperature at that section of the building was the same as the average house temperature).

higher temperatures than cage rows on the sides of the building.

It is important to remember the issue of uniform environmental conditions when managing a flock or designing a building and environmental control system. Birds that live in a section of the house that is consistently warmer than average will tend to consume less feed and may not be getting their daily nutrient requirements for maximum production. Similarly, birds in cooler sections of the house may tend to overconsume nutrients.

As pressure increases from nutrient management legislation to reduce the amount of wasted nutrients in poultry manure, improved environmental management may be part of the solution.

Research at Penn State continues in the area of improved environmental control of livestock buildings. Environmental conditions affect an animal's performance, the cost of feed, and subsequently the profitability of a livestock producer.

Pesticide Certification Exam Set

HONESDALE (Wayne Co.) — Pesticide certification examinations will be given at the Penn State Cooperative Extension, Wayne County "North" office meeting room, Courthouse, Honesdale, on Tuesday, Feb. 7, starting at 8:30 a.m. and ending at noon.

Persons with disabilities that anticipate needing any type of accommodations or have questions about the physical access provided, please contact Donald Overdorff at (717) 253-5970 in advance of your participation or visit.

The exam is open to anyone wishing to become certified as private, commercial, or public applicators. Private applicators are those who are farming and applying restricted-use pesticides to their own crops. Commercial applicators are those who are applying pesticides to property of other people.

The examination is a pass-fail, open book, proctored test. Examination fees are nonrefundable. The following fees, with payment made in advance, shall be charged: private applicator exams are free. Commercial applicator's core examination is $50 plus $10 for each category examination.

Testing is also available on working Monday mornings at the Pa. Department of Agriculture office on Route 92 just south of Tunkhannock.

For examination registration or additional information, call the Penn State Cooperative Extension Wayne County Office at (717) 253-5970, ext. 239 or the Department of Agriculture in Tunkhannock at (717) 836-2181.

Binkley & Hurst Bros. Has CASE IH The Early Riser® Compliancy Plan: (Ready For Delivery)

No Attachments Required

A Case International 950 Early Riser planter is designed to plant in mulch-till and no-till fields as well as it does in clean-tilled fields. Yet you won't have to add costly coulters or down-pressure springs. Plus, no matter what the field's tillage condition you'll get accurate seed placement spacing and depth control for fast complete germination.

The secret's in the design. The exclusive Cyclo Air metering system and Early Riser row-unit together put seed in a precision-controlled environment which results in fast starts and bigger yields next harvest. Stop by to find out more about the Case International 950 Early Riser planters the original conservation compliance planters.

6 Row Planter With Dry Fertilizer And Lots Of Other Fine Features

Front Pulled, Equalizing Gauge Wheels- These are connected through a special linkage that maintains equal pressure on the gauge wheels at all times. As one wheel moves up and over an obstacle, the other wheel is forced down. This equalizing action limits opener movement to half the height of the obstacle and results in more uniform depth control and better seed placement. Example: If your customer is planting two inches deep and encounters a 2 1/4 inch root, the equalizing gauge wheels will limit opener movement to 1 1/4 inches, so the seed is planted in the soil, not on top of it.

Staggered Disc Openers- Staggered double disc openers use the leading disc to cut the soil and residue and the trailing disc to open the seed trench. This design provides superior cutting efficiency and penetration over parallel double disc openers. This design virtually eliminates the need and costs of add-on coulters attachments common to competitive so-called "no-till" planters.

Earth Metal® Opener Blades - Earth Metal blades are known for their superior wear characteristics and strength. This is especially important to your customers who rely on the planter to do more of the tillage function in reduced tillage operations. They provide increased service life over standard opener blades.

Furrow-Firming Point - Any double disc opener tends to leave a "W" shaped seed trench that can lead to uneven depth control, inaccurate in-row seed spacing and germination problems. To eliminate these concerns, the Early Riser row unit uses a furrow firming point to remove the seed trench "W" and leave a well-defined "V" trench bottom.

NOTE: Some competitors have tried to tell your customers that the furrow firming point compacts the soil and reduces germination, but this is not true. The furrow firming point isn't as wide or deep as the double disc openers that actually open the seed trench. A rolling disc opener creates a water-wheel effect with the loose soil it's moving. Some of this loose soil falls back into the just-opened seed trench. The furrow firming point removes this loose soil.

GEHL Box Spreaders

Binkley & Hurst Bros. Has A Quality Gehl Spreader In Stock And Ready For Use Now At Economical Pricing!

Even when it's empty... it's loaded.

Low profile design means easy loading by skid loader, front end loader or barn cleaner

Double Galvanized steel sides are corrosion resistant for long life. One-piece seamless construction won't catch material or leak.

Gehl-Tuff Flooring prevents the apron from freezing to the floor, allowing manure to slide out with little resistance. Less apron pull means less wear and tear on drives and apron chains. One piece construction won't flex under heavy loads.

Optional hydraulic endgate rests in front of the beater paddles to secure sloppy loads and keep heaped material out of the beater unit you're ready to spread. An available litter pan reduces spills in the yard or roadway while enhancing the spread distribution.

Oscillating tandem wheels allow faster ground speeds while providing greater flotation. They're standard on the 325-bushel and 425-bushel models and optional on the 250-bushel model

Twelve extra wide one-piece beater paddles are symmetrically positioned for broad, uniform spreads. Paddles are fabricated from tough, 1/4" thick high strength steel. Bolt-on replacement tips are available to extend paddle life.

Constant velocity pto for continuous, smooth, chatter-free power transfer when spreading on turns and reduced stress on the entire drive line.

Gehl high-capacity blowers will help get your silo-filling done in short order.

- Three models with a choice of 540 or 1,000 rpm.
- Twin spinners rifle material at nearly 35 mph.
- Twin-sided fan disc with paddles on both sides.
- Split rim sheets feature a replaceable inner liner.
- Many convenience features.

Most Mix-All owners will never buy another.

In fact, you'd probably have a hard time convincing Gehl Mix-All® owners to even look at anything else. And why should they?

The Mix-All's big 21-inch wide hammermill features 66 reversible thin hammers that cut, rather than pound the feed to deliver a more consistent grind and ensure uniform mixing for a better feed conversion rate.

Gehl's self-contained hydraulic system is designed-in, not added on. It provides the precision of infinitely variable in-feed attachment control to match tractor power for greater grinding capacity. Plus you get fast, smooth, trouble-free unloading with greater reliability.

And a wide variety of options and attachments lets you customize your Mix-All to fit any operation

 Quality, Dependability and Performance Are Three Great Reasons Why The TWISTER Family of Medium-Duty Cutters From SERVI-RHINO Is Mowing The Competition Down!

TW60
 The TW60 mows a full 5' swath and is available in 540 RPM and three-point lift. The TW60 requires only a 30 HP tractor (with adequate front weight) to save on operating costs. The tail-wheel beam of the TW60, 72, and 84 lift-type cutters are easily adjustable for different cutting heights.

TW72
 The TW72 mows a 6' swath of material and can be operated on a tractor as small as 40 HP (with adequate front weight). The floating top linkage of the "A" Frame allows the TW cutters to follow the contour of the ground in rough conditions without damage to the hitch.

Get Ready For Spring With A Sunflower Now!

WHY BUY A SUNFLOWER DISC HARROW?

The Reasons Are Obvious! Sizes From 10'-15' And 18'-32' Folding

The Secret To A Level Field Is The Sunflower GAUGE WHEELS

A trademark on all FLEXIBLE Sunflower Discs is Front-Mounted Gauge Wheels. This Important Feature Prevents the Front Gangs Of The Wing Frame From Gouging, Buckling or Cutting Deeper Than The Other Gangs, Promoting A Level Ridge Or Furrow-Free Field. The Heavy Duty Gauge Wheel Features A 5-Bolt Hub And 8.0x10 Ply Tire & Tube.

DOUBLE OFFSET DESIGN

Eliminates center ridging while cutting the entire width at an even depth. Self-leveling hitch provides fore & aft leveling at any working depth.

Check Out The Rest - Then Buy The Best! SUNFLOWER

Conservation Tillage Equipment Built SUNFLOWER Tough!

FROM SUNFLOWER:

4010/4110

SUNFLOWER
 COULTER RIPPER

Sunflower's Coulters Ripper is for today's conservation minded farmer demanding deep tillage with minimal residue disturbance. These durable machines feature adjustable front mounted coulters on 7 1/2" centers. The coulters blades have an added advantage of slicing hard ground to keep clod size to a minimum. The V bar ripper design gives added trash clearance and pulls smoother than straight bar rippers. These coulters rippers are built Sunflower tough and no ballast is added to the frame increasing the structural strength. Check out Sunflower's latest edition to its growing family of quality tillage equipment at a farm show or dealer near you.

Adjustable Coulters Gangs: The 4010/4110 both feature adjustable coulters that can be raised completely in clean ground. Ratchet Jack Adjustment is standard equipment. Optional Hydraulic Gang Adjustment makes on the go changes or raising the coulters completely out of the way an easy task from the tractor seat.

MODEL 1211-13

Series 6000 LAND FINISHER

The RIGHT combination in one-pass tillage. The New Sunflower 6000 Series Land Finisher performs three operations in one pass. It discs, cultivates, and finishes the seedbed all at once. Working widths from 13 to 37 feet.

SUNFLOWER

5000 Series Field Cultivators range in sizes from 22' to 45' on 3-section models

They may be ordered with the Coil Tine Harrow attached or, the attachment may be added to units already in the field. Either way, the results are well worth the extra cost of a Sunflower Coil Tine Harrow Attachment.

The narrow transport width of the Sunflower 5000 Series Field Cultivator is accomplished quickly, easily and safely from the tractor seat. Wings fold over center to provide maximum stability and excellent road clearance.

Farmhand WingPackers break clods, level seedbeds...then gently firm the soil to reduce air pockets and seal in moisture.
Flat fold WingPackers range from 18" to 36" wide. Behind a disk harrow or field cultivator, they're an ideal final tool before planting. Behind a drill, they gently but firmly pack soil to increase seed-to-soil contact, improving germination for even field stands.

Check these high-performance features:

- All units fold flat to a safe transport width of 13'6".
- Single hydraulic control for transport and to raise/lower wings.
- Heavy-duty tubing and plate construction with 4"x6" tool bar
- Choose smooth 6-spoke rollers or crowfoot rollers for more aggressive action.

FLUFF 3 WINDROWS IN ONE PASS

You'll cover acres fast, and bale or chop sooner with the Model 169 tedder. It uses six rotors to ted a wide 22'8" area. That's wide enough to fluff three windrows from a 9' mower-conditioner. Yet transport width is a narrow 9'8" for easy maneuvering. The frame of the "169" is fully articulated, so it hugs the ground to fluff all of your crop for fast drying. Beat the weather with the Model 169. Stop by for details.

EFFICIENT • VERSATILE • TOUGH

CASE IH

These three words describe the Case International 3900 flexwing tandem disk. #11 blades and width from 19 ft. 10 in. to 33 ft. 7 in.

SPACE, TIME AND MONEY

CASE IH

That's what you can expect to save with a Case International 8570 rectangular baler. The 8570 makes bales that save space by compressing the same amount of hay as approximately 20 conventional bales into a 1,000 pound, mid-size package.

ALL THE AMENITIES

The Case International 5300 Grain Drill makes sense.

The versatility of the 5300 allows you to tailor the machine to your precise needs. There are a variety of widths and row spacings; plain hopper or combination seed/fertilizer hopper; four opener options; large capacity hoppers; and the Soybean Special.

NEW GENESIS™ TRACTOR

GOTTA DRIVE IT!

You gotta get behind the wheel of a new Ford 70 Series GENESIS™ tractor. It'll change your entire perspective of tractors and technology.

- You gotta "hear" the new cab
- You gotta feel the powerful new 7.5 liter engines
- You gotta U turn at the tightest headlands
- You gotta powershift through all 16 forward and 9 reverse speeds
- You gotta glide the control console into a position that's comfortable for you

You get the idea. GENESIS tractors. Four new tractors in the 145 to 210 hp class that you gotta drive to believe. Stop in today for a demonstration. Gotta drive it.

ALL NEW*NOW THIS IS TOUGH

When you've got a tough job to do, you need the awesome power and reliability of the New Holland Super Boom™ skid-steer loader.

The all-new Super Boom features improved hydraulics, a new electrical system, solid state instruments and a new attachment system.

Routine service is simple with the boom down and there's quick access to the engine and transmission with the flip-up cab and boom.

Stop in and see what makes Super Boom so tough.

NEW HOLLAND*185*NO SPREADER BUILT BETTER

- The New Holland Model 185 is built to last.
- Strong, corrosion-resistant steel sides.
  - High-density polyethylene (HDPE) floor.
  - Lifetime Bonded Protection warranty.

This 287-bushel spreader features oscillating tandem wheels that allow faster ground speeds with less ground compaction. Get fast, smooth unloading at two spreading rates with the standard worm gear drive.

CLAAS, OHG of Harsewinkel Built Its 10,000th S.P. Harvester in late 1994.

Forage harvester performance redefined

CLAAS JAGUAR self propelled forage harvesters have established a unique reputation for outstanding output, reliability and versatility along with unbeatable forage quality. With JAGUAR 880 and 860, plus the new 840 and 820 models, CLAAS provides you with a complete new generation of machines.

All in all it adds up to the highest performance available, with a throughput of the JAGUAR 880 of around 170 tons per hour in corn, more comfort and of course a better return on your invested capital.

6 Row Narrow FOLDING Corn Heads for John Deere Machines IN STOCK NOW!

MF 3120T TRACTOR

Open platform model now available.

Open platform configuration offers an unobstructed view of work areas to the front, sides and front axle area. Semi-flat floor deck provides plenty of leg room both under the pedals and between the seat and dash column. Deluxe spring suspension seat is vinyl covered to resist the elements. Seat adjusts six different ways to suit operator's needs. FOPS sun shade, protecting the operator from the sun's heat and falling material, is standard equipment on the open platform model 3120T. Grab handles and nonskid steps aid in getting on and off the tractor.

Open platform version of the MF 3120T provides a value-priced alternative when a cab is not essential.

The 4750 produces high-density bales that can weigh up to 1,000 pounds and measure 31.5 inches wide by 34.4 inches high by up to 98 inches long. That makes them the ideal size for feeding on your own farm or for loading flatbed trucks and semi trailers to maximum capacity.

DISC MOWER CONDITIONER

Unlike most disc mower-conditioners, the Model 1340 lets you choose any field-cutting format you want. Its center-pivot design lets you turn 180° at the end of a field or cut 90° turns at the corners of your fields. By steering the header with your tractor remote hydraulic system, you can even work around field obstacles.

ON THE USE OF

PURINA DAIRY SUPPL-MINERALS

Suppl-Minerals were developed primarily to fit into any program where the dairy animals do not require much of our milking completes or concentrates; for example, in late lactation, during the dry period, or for the heifer.

Purina Minerals use only quality ingredients with high biological availability. They are more easily absorbed into the animal's system.

Purina Minerals are flavored with molasses or other palatability enhancers. That makes animals consume free-choice minerals as often as needed. Purina Minerals are formulated to provide the proper balance of major and minor minerals plus vitamins.

Directions: Blend into total mixed rations or limit-feed to lactating dairy animals to provide 2 to 4 ounces per head per day or as recommended by your Purina Representative.

Feed 4 to 5 ounces/head/day to dry cows and growing heifers not on a Purina Cornerstone® or Prepare® feeding program.
